P. M. ROHRBAUGH NEW HEAD OF LEGION POST

Paul M. Rohrbaugh, 141 Steinwehr avenue, a veteran of a year's service overseas in the first World War with a field artillery outfit that fought at the front in the St. Mihiel and Argonne Forest offensives, was selected as the new commander of the Albert J. Lentz post, No. 202 of the American Legion, Monday evening.

In the same election, the Legionnaires named veterans of service in World War II to post officers for the first time.

Commander-elect Rohrbaugh, who has three sons in the armed forces, won the election on the first ballot. One son is an officer in the Air Force in this country, another serves with the Air Force in England and the third is in a quarter-master detachment in France.

To Install Oct. 2

Rohrbaugh will replace Paul L. Scangler, Lincolnway east, the retiring commander.

Other new officers elected include Joseph Smith, 202 South Stratton street, trustees: Howard Strausbaugh, South Washington street, first vice commander; Raymond Fridinger, West High street, second vice commander; Edgar A. Moser, South street, adjutant; James F. Howe, 243 York street, finance officer; Kenneth Johns, Steinwehr avenue, chaplain; William Allison, National cemetery superintendent, historian; and Joseph McKenrick and Russell Shetter, sergeants-at-arms. Johns and McKenrick served in World War II.

The new officers will be installed at the regular meeting October 2. They will succeed these retiring officers: Adjutant, Rohrbaugh; chaplain, Curtin Orsler; first vice commander, Wilbur A. Geiselman; second vice commander, Howard Strausbaugh; and sergeant-at-arms, Fridinger. Those elected to other positions will succeed themselves.

About 75 post members attended the meeting.

126 ENROLLED FOR COLLEGE'S FRESHMAN WEEK

Gettysburg college opened its one hundred and nineteenth year Monday with the start of the eighteenth annual Freshman week. Prof. Charles R. Wolfe, registrar and dean of admissions, reported an enrollment of 126 new students.

Professor Wolfe said, however, that the total enrollment of new students was expected to reach at least 145 before the end of the week. The new registrations included 36 boys and the usual wartime preponderance of girls, so far 30, with 10 more expected.

Upper-class registration will take place Wednesday and the formal opening of the school year will take place Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in Brua Chapel with an address by President Henry W. A. Hanson.

Freshman Program

The first three days of the week are devoted to activities of the new students under a program of orientation, achievement, comprehension, psychological and vocational guidance tests, discussion groups and class organization.

But The Fuehrer Goes Nuts Best

Rome, Sept. 19 (AP)—The following order by a Nazi political education officer of the German First Parachute Division was seized on the Italian front today: "Officers must counteract with all possible means and with conviction assertions made by the enemy as well as even some of our own people that the Fuehrer goes mad with rage and when he is in that state he tears down curtains, bites the carpet in his rage and rolls in convulsions on the floor."

The order added that there are witnesses who know Adolf Hitler "is well above such a lack of control," although "many a man in the street, if he were exposed to the disappointment and grief which the Fuehrer has to bear, would have gone under long ago."

Sgt. Claude Miller Given Star Award

S. Sgt. Claude H. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, North Queen street, Littlestown, has been awarded the bronze star "for meritorious service in connection with military operations against the enemy." The award was made several weeks ago in England.

Sgt. Miller has now received two bronze stars and five war ribbons for service in the European theater. He was inducted into the service in May, 1941. He is a member of an Air Corps ground crew.

Mrs. Melvin Ditzler, Biglerville, a sister of Sergeant Miller, received a letter recently from her brother telling her of his latest award.

CAPTAIN KNOX GIVEN LEGION OF MERIT AWARD

(Special to The Times)

By S-SGT. EDW. HARRINGTON
Ninth Trooper Carrier Base, European Theatre of Operations (By Mail)—One brief paragraph in a long list of general orders reads:

"JOHN J. KNOX, Capt., Air Corps, Hq., etc., awarded Legion of Merit for exceptional meritorious performance of his duties."

To those who never knew Capt. Knox, former prominent physician of Gettysburg, the announcement was just a matter for the record. But to the personnel of his Troop Carrier unit it was the best news they had read in some time, for that paragraph contained a story they all knew well—a story of sweat and toil, backed by skill and devotion to his profession. So it is with joy that the "boys" of Capt. Knox's unit hail the award, the fourth highest ranking medal awarded by the War Department.

From the days of training in the United States, Capt. Knox won the confidence of his men through his ability and manner in administering to the sick and wounded. And these characteristics carried the unit through the North African, Sicilian and European campaigns with the least losses, perhaps, of any similar organization.

Tireless Worker

Through North Africa Capt. Knox worked virtually under pioneer conditions, and was more than a credit to his profession. From dawn to dusk, and often all through the night, he labored tirelessly in his tent hospital on the desert. Cases of all descriptions were brought to him, and no matter how serious or how slight, they all received the same expert treatment. He was the boys' home town doctor, and was at their beck and call at any hour.

At times when things were quiet, the Captain worked about improving his little hospital for the comfort of the patients. And too, he tried to bring every convenience into being.

With the threat of malaria hovering about, Captain Knox battled continuously against this dread disease. And to his credit must go the fact that malaria cases were held to a minimum. Lectures, inspections and prompt diagnosis all aided in bringing about the record established by the former Gettysburg physician.

In Sicily he was again confronted with the malaria problem and other tropical diseases. His dispensary there was of the pioneer nature compared with the elaborate setups in the states. But for all of that the captain kept up his tireless efforts, and pulled the unit through another trying period.

PLAN TRAINING SCHOOL COURSE FOR SS STAFFS

The Adams County Leadership Training school for church school workers will hold its annual sessions under the sponsorship of the Adams County Council of Christian Education beginning Thursday evening, November 2.

The sessions which will be held each Monday and Thursday evening until Monday, November 29, will be conducted in the chapel of St. James Lutheran church.

A demand on the part of those attending the school in past years for a greater variety of studies has been met this year with four courses covering all phases of Sunday school work, an official of the school said today.

Staff And Courses

The curriculum and the instructor for each course follows: "Christian Evangelism," to be taught by Dr. H. D. Hoover of the Gettysburg Theological seminary faculty; "Jesus and His Teachings," the Rev. Ralph R. Gresh, St. James Lutheran pastor; "The Use of the Bible with Children," the Rev. Earl N. Rowe, pastor of the York Springs Methodist church; and "Guidance in Home Making," the Rev. Dobbs Enham, pastor of St. Paul's Reformed church at New Oxford.

The school will convene at 7:30 o'clock each evening and dismiss at 9:30 p. m. Two class periods of fifty minutes each with an intermission for a devotional period will be held each evening.

Officers of the school are: The Rev. George E. Sheffer, New Oxford, president; the Rev. Robert M. Hunt, Gettysburg, secretary; George T. Raffensperger, Gettysburg, treasurer; Miss Mildred Moser, Gettysburg, registrar; and C. C. Culp, Gettysburg, dean of the school.

HARRISBURG MEETING

Miss Mildred Adams, county home economics extension adviser, will go to Harrisburg Thursday, Friday and Saturday to attend a conference of the State college nutrition extension association.

FORFEITS FINE

Michael Giglio, Bronx, New York, this morning forfeited a fine of $12.50 and costs after failing to appear before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore on a charge of making a bad pass and forcing another car off the road along the Lincoln highway west of Gettysburg Sunday night. The information was filed by state police.

Set Dates For League Meetings

The executive board of the Women's League of Gettysburg college met Monday afternoon at the YWCA building. League President, Mrs. Frank H. Kramer, presided. The following dates were set for meetings of the organization this year: October 10, December 12, February 13, March 13 and May 8.

Finland Signs Armistice

London, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Moscow radio announced today that Finland had signed an armistice with Russia and Britain. The first brief announcement, broadcast by the Soviet information office and recorded here by the Soviet monitor, did not immediately give the terms.

The official statement, however, listed the names of those participating in the negotiations which were in progress from Sept. 14 until today, when the agreement was signed.

Britain and Russia signed the terms as representatives of the United Nations.

A dispatch from Stockholm said it was reliably reported there that the armistice terms were formally approved by the Finnish Parliament in an early morning session.

JACOB APPLER GUEST SPEAKER AT LIONS CLUB

Australian girls like the Yankees but they can't compare with American girls in looks. Boatswain's Mate second class, Jacob G. Appler told members of the Gettysburg Lions club Monday evening as he recounted his experiences as a Seabee for 15 months in the South Pacific.

Appler said that Australia and a number of other islands he visited in line of duty were attractive in many ways "but I didn't see anything that looked as good as Gettysburg to me," he added.

The Navy man, who was attached to a Marine division and was on hand for several of the most important island landings in the South Pacific in the last year, recalled one position in which his area was bombed 112 times in three months.

Raffensperger Joins

He told the clubmen that Yankee ingenuity had to be relied upon heavily to solve construction problems encountered by the Seabees. He said that on one occasion heavy guns on a General Sherman tank were used to blast out hardened lava which proved to be fine road building material.

Appler was introduced by James Sheak, a member of the club. President J. Milton Bender presided at the meeting with about 30 members in attendance.

George T. Raffensperger was presented as a new member of the club. The scheduled program, a talk by a Jamaican school teacher now engaged in picking apples in this country, has been postponed until next week.

C. Paul Cessna, a past district governor and chairman of the club's program committee, spoke briefly of Lions plans set up at a district meeting at Hummelton Sunday which he and Hugh C. McIlhenny, newly appointed zone chairman for eight clubs in this section, attended McIlhenny is to report further on the district session next week.

Mrs. S. J. Small
Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Matilda C. Small, 61, widow of Samuel J. Small, died Monday afternoon of a heart attack at her home, 413 Main street, McSherrystown.

She had been sitting in her living room when she got up to walk around the room and collapsed. Dr. Louis A. Harman, of Hanover, was called but Mrs. Small had died before he arrived. Her husband died about 10 years ago.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, investigated this morning and ruled a certificate giving heart trouble as the cause of death. Mrs. Small is survived by one daughter, Mrs. F. O. Buffington, York, and two brothers, Lewis Bunty, McSherrystown, and George Bunty, Midway.

Funeral services from the J. T. Kernan funeral home, McSherrystown, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock followed by a requiem high mass at St. Mary's Catholic church sung by the Rev. P. F. McGee. Burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

C. F. STURDY TO ADDRESS C OF C DINNER SESSION

Carlton F. Sturdy, head of the American Can Company speaking service will be the speaker at the September dinner-meeting of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening, September 26, at the Hotel Gettysburg.

President Mares Sherman today appealed to the members to attend.

CARLTON F. STURDY

The dinner meeting to start the winter sessions with renewed interest in Chamber activities. The session will begin at 6:30 p. m.

First trained as an engineer, Mr. Sturdy early turned to the food trade, and from a lifetime in that industry is conversant with all of the many problems that confront those interested in food.

The Canco speaking service came into being as the result of constant demands from the industry for someone who could talk to various groups in the trade on the particular problem uppermost at the time. The service is conducted without cost to the groups, main emphasis, however, being given to groups of sufficient size and importance to warrant Mr. Sturdy's appearance.

In past years, the general problems common to the trade have been the subject of Mr. Sturdy's talks, but since the war his services have been more vital in analyzing the food situation today and tomorrow, which is necessarily subject to change when an industry has to change its lifetime habits to meet an emergency.

Mr. Sturdy is nearing his eleventh year of this educational work.

Member Of Outfit Overseas Two Years

T-4 John D. Robert, Orranna, is a member of a signal company whose old guard members celebrated their second anniversary of overseas service September 5 at a buffet supper and dance in an old Italian restaurant.

The company, commanded by Lt. Gen. Carl Spaatz for excellence in signal operation and maintenance during the North African campaign, took part in two invasions, the landing near Oran, November 8, 1942, and at Salerno, Italy.

The unit went overseas September 1942. It continues to operate the far-flung communication facilities for Mediterranean Allied Air Force headquarters under the command of Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker.

Arrive Overseas

Mr. Claude O. Kiefer has arrived safely in New Guinea, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kiefer, 204 Maple street.

TWINS PROMOTED

Herbert and Harry Smith, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, West Broadway, who are serving overseas with the Second Army, have been promoted to corporal. They were the first members of their company to be promoted to corporal at the front.

Report Parachute Men Across Rhine; Reds Bottle Nazis

Soviet Troops Grinding Down Boche Panzers

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Moscow, Sept. 19 (AP)—Grinding down German armored reserves at the rate of nearly one Panzer division a day, the Red Army has achieved a stranglehold grip on the enemy's mid-Baltic communications in Latvia in a gigantic five-day battle which may be another fulfillment of Premier Stalin's classic strategy—surround and destroy!

Front reports today indicated there still is no pause in the ferocious engagement begun Friday west of Jelgava, where the main Baltic roads and railways meet.

The Russians claim to have knocked out 449 tanks, and 355 planes on the eastern front in the past four days. Obviously most of this punishment has been inflicted in the Baltic sector.

A coastal corridor little more than 20 miles wide now connects the Germans above Riga with those holding western Latvia and western Lithuania.

Pour In Reserves

At the corridor's narrowest point the enemy is throwing in continuous heavy infantry and tank attacks to drive a wedge into the line held by Gen. Ivan C. Bagration's First Baltic Army and attempt to nullify Red Army plans to cut off and annihilate the German Army group piecemeal.

Berlin declared that three Soviet armies totalling more than 500,000 men had been hurled against the German Baltic positions and one commentator predicted an imminent onslaught by a fourth in the Narva sector of Estonia's northeastern coast.

Official silence screened details of the Soviet-Polish operations in the Warsaw area, but German strong points in the capital continued under heavy Russian artillery fire.

BOMBING GROUP
CITED BY FDR

(Special to The Times)
An eighth AAF Composite Station, England—Staff Sergeant Harold S. Rummel, Gettysburg Route 4, is a member of a Bombardment Group, which with its Division, has been cited by President Roosevelt for a bombing attack on targets in Germany, January 11, 1944.

Staff Sergeant Rummel is now entitled to wear the Presidential Citation Badge, a blue ribbon with a gold border, over the right pocket of the blouse.

This group, which is commanded by Col. Howard Moore, of Llano, Texas, also has been commended by Capt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, Commanding General of the Eighth Air Force, and Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, former Commander of the Eighth, for outstanding performance of duty in the winter of 1943-44, when its planes led 80 per cent of the Eighth's bombing missions.

Staff Sgt. Rummel, who has been mentioned 15 months, is a radio maintenance specialist at this B-17 Flying Fortress unit. The son of C. D. Rummel, he was a tree surgeon before entering the Army.

Expect Final Stand

On Angaur island, six miles southward, the 81st (Wildcat) army division speeded up its lightly opposed advance. The infantrymen captured Saipan town, the principal settlement, with its artillery-wrecked phosphate refinery, once vital for Japan's explosives, and the largest railroad yard in Oceania.

Capture of the town meant the Army spearheads had pushed southward more than half the length of Angaur, against small counterattacks. The Japanese apparently were withdrawing to the extreme tip for a final stand. Their dead through Sunday totalled 48.

A Navy communiqué said that for the same period Japanese killed on Peleliu totalled 5,495. By contrast, 2,499 Japanese were buried on Guam in the first four days of that campaign, the total eventually rising to over 14,000. Field dispatches from Peleliu said American casualties were light.

On Morotai island, 375 miles south of Davao, southwest Pacific forces continued to scout for the disappearing Japanese garrison. Two high aerial attacks, the first Japanese counterblow against that sector, were reported, with two of the attacking planes shot down.

Baby Beef Clubs
To Meet Thursday

Members of the McSherrystown and York Springs 4-H Baby Beef clubs will meet with Elmer Hikes, Gardner, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Discussion during the meeting will center on the care and management of baby beefs, and the buying of plans for increasing membership during 1943. The county agricultural extension office today advised interested boys to contact the local leaders of the two clubs now requesting membership. The local leaders are A. B. C. Williams, of York Springs, and Francis Murren of McSherrystown. Archibald Hugg, assistant county agent, will attend the meeting.

Refreshments were served and McClell was presented with several gifts during the affair held in the court house arbitration room. He has been a janitor at the court house for about ten years.

By JAMES M. LONG

London, Sept. 19 (AP)—British troops, joining hands with a great sky-borne army dropped in Holland in a thrust to break into northern Germany, have captured Eindhoven, seventh largest Dutch city, a front dispatch declared today.

The British charged forward 16 miles in 24 hours. They linked with some of the parachute and glider forces who by German account already were across the Rhine in central Holland, threatening to roll up the Nazi flank just as the Brittany breakthrough did in France.

Make More Advances Into Germany

The battle of the Rhine meanwhile began on a broad front to the south as three American armies ripped deeper into enemy crossriver defenses shielding Cologne, Strasbourg and Mulhouse.

Eindhoven, a big communications center, and Geldrop seven miles to the east, were swept up by the British Second Army plunge up from Belgium. They lie 10 miles inside Holland from the Belgian border. The British already had struck on farther north, coming to the aid of Allied sky soldiers ousting the Germans from village after village, and seizing strategic bridges and crossroads.

Berlin, which yesterday declared the airborne troops had been wiped out, today detailed the areas where Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's plane-ferried men were fighting.

Front reports said the Germans rushed in heavy artillery in a desperate attempt to halt the forward shove of the airborne army.

Berlin declared more troops had landed from planes and gliders for the third successive day, and hinted some had descended north of the Rhine delta, in the area where Rotterdam, Amsterdam and The Hague lie.

Nazis Quit Brest.

Such landings would threaten a quick turning of the Rhine as a defensive position.

Evacuation of the Brittany port of Brest also was acknowledged by German broadcasts.

While the flanking sweep developed in Holland, the main weight of the Allied land assault was battering through the Rhineland on the last 20 or 25 miles to Cologne. Other U. S. columns were hitting through the Lorraine gap in new gains beyond Nancy, and closing steadily upon Belfort farther below, gateway to southwestern Germany.

The Germans hurled in reserves from the Russian front, risked some of their remaining planes and fired their biggest artillery batteries since Normandy. But despite their stiffened stand, Americans captured four more border towns, and reached at least three others.

By German account the Allies have spread 40 miles north of the Dutch city of Nijmegen across Holland's most formidable water barriers to the vicinity of Arnhem.

Crack Germans Beaten

Arnhem is beyond both the Waal River and the Neder Rijn, the main arms of the Rhine river in the Netherlands, and is 320 miles west of Berlin.

The American First and Third armies were locked in bitter engagements with the enemy south along the Allied line. The Germans threw in crack, first-line troops from the Russian front against American units which breached the Siegfried line east of Aachen.

But the enemy's Russian front veterans were not good enough to halt the drive of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' American First Army troops. The Germans themselves said they had been driven back inside Duren, only 20 miles west of Cologne.

The Yanks fought well inside the frontier fortress city of Aachen after crushing German resistance on the outskirts.

Two New Crossings

Forty miles southeast of Aachen the Americans made two new crossings into Germany, advancing a mile or two from the Luxembourg border. These pushes were made at the German villages of Echternach and Sollerdorf, 8 to 12 miles northwest of the bigger drive into the Reich at Trier.

Figures to clear the Germans from their last footholds in France, American Third Army troops drove 18 miles east of Nancy, and were nearing the peaks of the Vosges mountains which block the road to the French frontier city of Strasbourg.

Finland Signs Armistice

London, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Moscow radio announced today that Finland had signed an armistice with Russia and Britain. The first brief announcement, broadcast by the Soviet information office and recorded here by the Soviet monitor, did not immediately give the terms.

The official statement, however, listed the names of those participating in the negotiations which were in progress from Sept. 14 until today, when the agreement was signed.

Britain and Russia signed the terms as representatives of the United Nations.

A dispatch from Stockholm said it was reliably reported there that the armistice terms were formally approved by the Finnish Parliament in an early morning session.

JACOB APPLER GUEST SPEAKER AT LIONS CLUB

Australian girls like the Yankees but they can't compare with American girls in looks. Boatwain's Mate second class, Jacob G. Appler told members of the Gettysburg Lions club Monday evening as he recounted his experiences as a Seabee for 15 months in the South Pacific.

Appler said that Australia and a number of other islands he visited in line of duty were attractive in many ways "but I didn't see anything that looked as good as Gettysburg to me," he added.

The Navy man, who was attached to a Marine division and was on hand for several of the most important island landings in the South Pacific in the last year, recalled one position in which his area was bombed 112 times in three months.

Raffensperger Joins

He told the clubmen that Yankee ingenuity had to be relied upon heavily to solve construction problems encountered by the Seabees. He said that on one occasion heavy guns on a General Sherman tank were used to blast out hardened lava which proved to be fine road building material.

Appler was introduced by James Shenk, a member of the club. President J. Milton Bender presided at the meeting with about 30 members in attendance.

George T. Raffensperger was presented as a new member of the club. The scheduled program, a talk by a Jamaican school teacher now engaged in picking apples in this county, has been postponed until next week.

C. Paul Cessna, a past district governor and chairman of the club's program committee, spoke briefly of Lions plans set up at a district meeting at Huntingdon Sunday which he and Hugh C. McIlhenny, newly appointed zone chairman for eight clubs in this section, attended. McIlhenny is to report further on the district session next week.

Mrs. S. J. Small Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Matilda C. Small, 81, widow of Samuel J. Small, died Monday afternoon of a heart attack at her home, 413 Main street, McSherrytown.

She had been sitting in her living room when she got up to walk around the room and collapsed. Dr. Louis A. Harman, of Hanover, was called but Mrs. Small had died before he arrived. Her husband died about 10 years ago.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, investigated this morning and signed a certificate giving heart trouble as the cause of death. Mrs. Small is survived by one daughter, Mrs. F. O. Buffington, York, and two brothers, Lewis Bunty, McSherrytown, and George Bunty, Midway.

Funeral services from the J. T. Kernan funeral home, McSherrytown, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock followed by a requiem high mass at St. Mary's Catholic church sung by the Rev. P. F. McGee. Burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

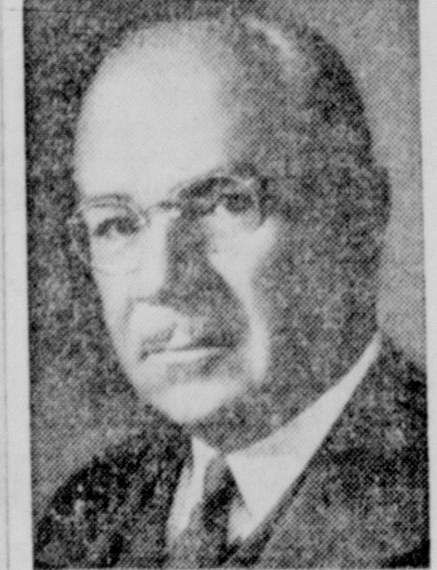

FORFEITS FINE

Michael Giglio, Bronx, New York, this morning forfeited a fine of $12.50 and costs after failing to appear before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore on a charge of making a bad pass and forcing another car off the road along the Lincoln highway west of Gettysburg Sunday night. The information was filed by state police.

C. F. STURDY TO ADDRESS C OF C DINNER SESSION

Carlton F. Sturdy, head of the American Can Company speaking service will be the speaker at the September dinner-meeting of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening, September 26, at the Hotel Gettysburg.

President Mares Sherman today appealed to the members to attend

the dinner meeting to start the winter sessions with renewed interest in Chamber activities. The session will begin at 6:30 p. m.

First trained as an engineer, Mr. Sturdy early turned to the food trade, and from a lifetime in that industry is conversant with all of the many problems that confront those interested in food.

The Canco speaking service came into being as the result of constant demands from the industry for someone who could talk to various groups in the trade on the particular problem uppermost at the time. The service is conducted without cost to the groups, main emphasis, however, being given to groups of sufficient size and importance to warrant Mr. Sturdy's appearance.

In past years, the general problems common to the trade have been the subject of Mr. Sturdy's talks, but since the war his services have been more vital in analyzing the food situation today and tomorrow, which is necessarily subject to change when an industry has to change its lifetime habits to meet an emergency.

Mr. Sturdy is starting his eleventh year of this educational work.

Member Of Outfit Overseas Two Years

T-4 John D. Rebert, Orrtanna, is a member of a signal company whose old guard members celebrated their second anniversary of overseas service September 5 at a buffet supper and dance in an old Italian restaurant.

The company, commanded by Lt. Gen. Carl Spaatz for excellence in signal operation and maintenance during the North African campaign, took part in two invasions, the landing near Oran, November 8, 1942, and at Salerno, Italy.

The unit went overseas September, 1942. It continues to operate the far-flung communications facilities for Mediterranean Allied Air Force headquarters, under the command of Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker.

Arrive Overseas

Pfc. Clyde O. Keeter has arrived safely in New Guinea, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Keeter, East Middle street.

TWINS PROMOTED

Herbert and Harvey Smith, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, West Broadway, who are serving overseas with the Second Army, have been promoted to corporal. They were the first members of their company to be promoted to corporal at the front.

Set Dates For League Meetings

The executive board of the Woman's League of Gettysburg college met Monday afternoon at the YWCA building. League President, Mrs. Frank H. Kramer, presided. The following dates were set for meetings of the organization this year:

October 10, December 12, February 13, March 13 and May 8.

Report Parachute Men Across Rhine; Reds Bottle Nazis

By JAMES M. LONG

Soviet Troops Grinding Down Boche Panzers

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Moscow, Sept. 19 (AP)—Grinding down German armored reserves at the rate of nearly one Panzer division a day, the Red Army has tightened a strangling grip on the enemy's mid-Baltic communications in Latvia in a gigantic five-day battle which may be another fulfillment of Premier Stalin's classic strategy—surround and destroy!

Front reports today indicated there still is no pause in the ferocious engagement begun Friday west of Jelgava, where the main Baltic roads and railways meet.

The Russians claim to have knocked out 449 tanks, and 365 planes on the eastern front in the past four days. Obviously most of this punishment has been inflicted in the Baltic sector.

A coastal corridor little more than 20 miles wide now connects the Germans above Riga with those holding western Latvia and western Lithuania.

Pour In Reserves

At the corridor's narrowest point the enemy is throwing in continuous heavy infantry and tank attacks to drive a wedge into the line held by Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's First Baltic Army and attempt to nullify Red Army plans to cut off and annihilate the German Army group piecemeal.

Berlin declared that three Soviet armies totalling more than 500,000 men had been hurled against the German Baltic positions and one commentator predicted an imminent onslaught by a fourth in the Narva sector of Estonia's northeastern coast.

Official silence screened details of the Soviet-Polish operations in the Warsaw area, but German strong points in the capital continued under heavy Russian artillery fire.

BOMBING GROUP CITED BY FDR

(Special to The Times)

An eighth AAF Composite Station, England—Staff Sergeant Harold S. Rummel, Gettysburg Route 4, is a member of a Bombardment Group, which, with its Division, has been cited by President Roosevelt for a bombing attack on targets in Germany, January 11, 1944.

Staff Sergeant Rummel is now entitled to wear the Presidential Citation Badge, a blue ribbon with a gold border, over the right pocket of the blouse.

This group, which is commanded by Col. Howard Moore, of Llano, Texas, also has been commended by Lieut. Gen. James H. Doolittle, Commanding General of the Eighth Air Force, and Lieut. Gen. Ira C. Baker, former Commander of the Eighth, for outstanding performance of duty in the winter of 1943-44, when its planes led 80 per cent of the Eighth's bombing missions.

Staff Sgt. Rummel, who has been overseas 16 months, is a radio maintenance specialist at this B-17 Flying Fortress station. The son of C. D. Rummel, he was a tree surgeon before entering the Army.

Baby Beef Clubs To Meet Thursday

Members of the McSherrytown and York Springs 4-H Baby Beef clubs will meet with Elmer Hikes, Gardner, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Discussions during the meeting will concern the care and management of baby beefs and the laying of plans for increasing membership during 1945. The county agricultural extension office today advised any interested boys to contact the local leaders of the two clubs now regarding membership. The local leaders are A. B. C. Williams, of York Springs, and Francis Murren of McSherrytown. Archibald Hug, assistant county agent, will attend the meeting.

London, Sept. 19 (AP)—British troops, joining hands with a great sky-borne army dropped in Holland in a thrust to break into northern Germany, have captured Eindhoven, seventh largest Dutch city, a front dispatch declared today.

The British charged forward 16 miles in 24 hours. They linked with some of the parachute and glider forces who by German account already were across the Rhine in central Holland, threatening to roll up the Nazi flank just as the Brittany breakthrough did in France.

Make More Advances Into Germany

The battle of the Rhine meanwhile began on a broad front to the south as three American armies ripped deeper into enemy crossriver defenses shielding Cologne, Strasbourg and Mulhouse.

Eindhoven, a big communications center, and Geldrop seven miles to the east, were swept up by the British Second Army from the Belgian border. The British already had struck on farther north, coming to the aid of Allied sky soldiers ousting the Germans from village after village, and seizing strategic bridges and crossroads.

Berlin, which yesterday declared the airborne troops had been wiped out, today detailed the areas where Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's plane-ferried men were fighting.

Yank Advance Gain Momentum In So. Pacific

U.S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 19 (AP)—American drives on Peleliu and Angaur islands in the southern Palau gained momentum today as the Japanese showed signs of weakening under the terrific attack which cost them 5,543 dead in the first four days' fighting.

The Peleliu airdrome, one of the biggest and best of captured Japanese fields, was being used by American planes. To the northward the first Marines pushed ahead across tough coral ridges, after capturing the island's main town, Asias, two adjacent villages and an offshore islet. The Japanese were falling back.

Leif Erickson, Associated Press war correspondent, reported in a flagship dispatch that Japanese commanders had shackled their men in observation posts and caves, to insure their death stand, while officers' bodies had been converted into booby traps.

Expect Final Stand

On Angaur island, six miles southward, the 81st (Wildcat) army division speeded up its lightly opposed advance. The infantrymen captured Saipan town, the principal settlement, with its artillery-wrecked phosphate refinery, once vital for Japan's explosives, and the largest railroad yard in Oceania.

Capture of the town meant the Army spearheads had pushed southward more than half the length of Angaur, against small counterattacks. The Japanese apparently were withdrawing to the extreme tip for a final stand. Their dead through Sunday totalled 48.

A Navy communique said that for the same period Japanese killed on Peleliu totalled 5,495. By contrast, 2,400 Japanese were buried on Guam in the first four days of that campaign, the total eventually rising to over 14,000. Field dispatches from Peleliu said American casualties were light.

On Morotai island, 375 miles south of Davao, southwest Pacific forces continued to scout for the disappearing Japanese garrison. Two light aerial attacks, the first Japanese counterblow against that islet, were reported, with two of the attacking planes shot down.

Janitor Is Given Birthday Party

George McClellan, Baltimore street, janitor at the court house, was given a birthday party on his sixtieth birthday anniversary Monday afternoon by court house employees.

Refreshments were served and McClellan was presented with several gifts during the affair held in the arbitration room. He has been janitor at the court house for about ten years.

Front reports said the Germans rushed in heavy artillery in a desperate attempt to halt the forward shove of the airborne army.

Berlin declared more troops had landed from planes and gliders for the third successive day, and hinted some had descended north of the Rhine delta, in the area where Rotterdam, Amsterdam and The Hague lie.

Nazis Quit Brest

Such landings would threaten a quick turning of the Rhine as a defensive position.

Evacuation of the Brittany port of Brest also was acknowledged by German broadcasts.

While the flanking sweep developed in Holland, the main weight of the Allied land assault was battering through the Rhineland on the last 20 or 25 miles to Cologne. Other U. S. columns were hitting through the Lorraine gap in new gains beyond Nancy, and closing steadily upon Belfort farther below, gateway to southwestern Germany.

The Germans hurled in reserves from the Russian front, risked some of their remaining planes and fired their biggest artillery batteries since Normandy. But despite their stiffened ranks, Americans captured four more border towns, and reached at least three others.

By German account the Allies have spread 10 miles north of the Dutch city of Nijmegen across Holland's most formidable water barriers to the vicinity of Arnhem.

Crack Germans Beaten

Arnhem is beyond both the Waal Ryn and the Needer Ryn, the main arms of the Rhine river in the Netherlands, and is 320 miles west of Berlin.

The American First and Third armies were locked in bitter engagements with the enemy south along the Allied line. The Germans threw in crack, first-line troops from the Russian front against American units which breached the Siegfried line east of encircled Aachen.

But the enemy's Russian front veterans were not good enough to halt the drive of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' American First Army troops. The Germans themselves said they had been driven back inside Duren, only 20 miles west of Cologne.

The Yanks fought well inside the frontier fortress city of Aachen after crushing German resistance on the outskirts.

Two New Crossings

Forty miles southeast of Aachen the Americans made two new crossings into Germany, advancing a mile or two from the Luxembourg border. These pushes were made at the German villages of Echtenach and Bollendorf, 8 to 12 miles northwest of the bigger drive into the Reich at Trier.

Fighting to clear the Germans from their last footholds in France, American Third Army troops drove 18 miles east of Nancy and were nearing the peaks of the Vosges mountains which block the road to the French frontier city of Strasbourg.

OPA ANNOUNCES CEILING PRICE FOR HARD COAL

Maximum prices for anthracite coal delivered in Zone 3, which includes Adams county, were announced today by the OPA.

The prices include:

Broken, egg, stove and nut coal at $13.10 per ton; pea coal, $11.50; buckwheat coal, $9.70; rice coal, $8.65 and Barley coal at $7.65.

The above prices are for deliveries made on a credit basis and are subject to a discount of 50 cents per ton, on deliveries of one ton or more, for payment within 10 days.

Maximum prices are also provided for delivered sales in quantities of one-half ton, one-quarter ton, 100 pound lots, and for sales made at dealers' yards. When anthracite must be delivered to the consumer's bin by carrying or wheeling from the curb, a maximum service charge of 50 cents per net ton is permitted, and when it must be carried up or downstairs a charge of 50 cents per ton per flight is permitted.

Three Advantages

"The new price schedule has three distinct advantages," the OPA said. "First, it eliminates differences in dealers' ceiling prices and in that way enables consumers to know just what the ceiling prices are. This also simplifies immeasurably the problem of enforcement.

"Second, users of anthracite, such as hospitals and charitable organizations, that have had difficulty in obtaining coal because of their low ceiling classification will now be able to secure adequate supplies, because the new ceiling prices are the same for all users.

It was pointed out that consumers who wish additional information or who have knowledge of violations of the new order should communicate with the Harrisburg District Office of the OPA, in the Blackstone building.

ROTARY HEARS RECORDED TALK

Members of the Gettysburg Rotary club meeting Monday evening at the YWCA heard a 16-minute recorded address by the Rotary International President, Richard H. Wells, and several talks by local club members.

Wells' speech discussed the four objects of Rotary and also told of the part the clubs could play in the post-war period of reconversion. Among the topics covered were the part Rotarians could play in finding jobs for returning veterans and the re-settlement of the soldiers.

Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Rotary information committee, gave a brief outline of the history of the organization, discussing its growth from one small club to the present-day strength of over 5,000 clubs with 250,000 members. His talk, and one by Charles L. Eicholtz, New Oxford, were made to acquaint new members of Rotary with the club's background.

In addition Eicholtz told of "what Rotary means to me." A letter dealing on the same subject and written by Richard D. Bircher, owner of the Boulevard Flying service, was read by Secretary Vernon D. Corle. Bircher was scheduled to make a talk but was unable to be present.

President Walter Africa presided and made a report on the club plans for the coming year. He also made a report of the activities of committees. About 36 members and these guests were present: R. M. Maynard, Gossport, New York, and C. A. Bixler, Hanover.

BULLETINS

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP) — A joint Congressional committee gave final approval to a postwar reconversion bill today after eliminating a senate provision to authorize unemployment compensation for $3,100,000 federal employees and back home travel pay for discharged war workers.

With the Allied Airborne Army in Holland, Sept. 19 (AP) — The Germans are bringing up heavy artillery today in an attempt to destroy a strategic canal which American troops seized intact in the southern sector.

London, Sept. 19 (AP) — Around 700 Flying Fortresses attacked rail yards at Hamm and Soest today while other hundreds of Allied planes reinforced and supplied the airborne army invading Holland.

With the U. S. Third Army, Sept. 19 (AP) — A force of young German S. S. (Elite Guard) troops, described by American Doughboys as "drunk, doped or crazy," made a savage bayonet charge southeast of Nancy yesterday only to be slaughtered by the fire of U. S. Forces.

New York, Sept. 19 (AP) — The German radio in Denmark asserted today that sentries outside the palace in Copenhagen opened fire on German Marines late today, several hours after the Nazis occupied all public buildings and declared a "Police state of emergency" throughout the little Kingdom.

Moscow, Sept. 19 (AP) — With Romania's fallen dictator, Marshal Ion Antonescu, and a host of German overlord in the Balkans in the Red Army's hands, Soviet Russia today powerfully reminded the western Allies that Axis war criminals must bear "full punishment for their monstrous crimes."

WEDDINGS

Simpson—Leedy

Miss Jean Elizabeth Leedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Leedy, Gettysburg R. D. 3, and Glenn Elwood Simpson, Gettysburg R. D. 5, were united in marriage Saturday night at 8 o'clock in Fiohr's Lutheran church, near Cashtown, by the Rev. A. R. Longenecker, Oak Ridge.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, William Leedy, of Seven Stars. She wore a white satin bridal gown with a long train, a finger tip tulle veil and carried a bouquet of pink roses and white chrysanthemums. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Leedy, was matron of honor and wore blue satin and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Mildred Smith, Gettysburg, was the bridesmaid and wore pink satin and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Kenneth Dayhoff, Gettysburg R. D. 5, was the best man. The ushers were Paul Kuykendall, Gettysburg, and Guy Raffensperger, Biglerville, a brother-in-law of the groom. Little Thomas Leedy, a brother of the bride, was the ring bearer and Doris Jean Raffensperger, Biglerville, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for a hundred guests was held at the home of the bride. She was formerly employed with the Blue Ridge Rubber company but will take up new duties at Swisher's grocery on York street. The bridegroom is employed by his brother on his farm.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and palms. Guests were present from Chambersburg and West Virginia.

Perdue—Reever

Miss Mary E. Reever, Gettysburg, and Herbert J. Perdue, Warm Springs, Ga., were married on Thursday at 3 p. m. in Westminster, Md. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the Rev. George A. Early, a minister of the Church of the Brethren. The bridegroom is a guard at the prisoners of war camp at Gettysburg.

SCOUT TROOP PLANS PROGRAM

Plans for the court of honor to-night and for the collection of milkweed pods were made at a special meeting and Wiener roast held by the members of Scout Troop No. 79 under the direction of Scoutmaster Jack Cessna Sunday.

The resumption of the regular weekly meetings, interrupted by the paralysis restrictions, was announced. Cessna also announced the Scout room will be opened at 7 o'clock Friday evening so patrols may prepare for the troop meetings at 7:30 o'clock.

He disclosed plans for a contest for scouts interested in making leaf and wood collections. The winning scout will be presented with a prize of scout equipment at the close of the contest to be announced later.

The troop has started classes for scouts interested in the pathfinding and civics merit badges. Other subjects will be covered later, Cessna said. He also reported the troop has plans for recruiting a number of new scouts to complete the membership. Interested boys have been asked to contact him or other members of the troop.

Four youths were injured when the automobile in which they were enroute home from Hanover figured in an accident on the Hanover-Gettysburg highway, about one mile east of Gettysburg Sunday night at 10:30 o'clock. The automobile in which they and three other persons rode was demolished.

The victims included Joseph William Clabough, 17, Littlestown R. D. 2, operator of the car, who received lacerations of the left wrist; Joseph Orndorff, 17, Gettysburg R. D. 5, who was cut on the right leg; David Raffensperger, 16, Gettysburg R. D. 2, who received head injuries, and John Orndorff, 17, Gettysburg R. D. 5, whose back was hurt. All were treated by Dr. Raymond F. Sheefer, Gettysburg. John Orndorff's back was X-rayed at the Warner hospital Monday morning. There was no fracture.

State police of the Gettysburg detail, who investigated the accident, said that the car was traveling west when the right front tire blew out, causing the machine to leave the highway. It ran from the right side of the road, sideswiped a pole and struck a tree. Damage to the automobile was estimated at $260.

UMW CHEERS REPLY TO FDR

Cincinnati, Sept. 19 (AP) — The United Mine Workers, replying to an appeal by Interior Secretary Ickes for aid in preventing strikes of coal mine supervisors, asserted today "it would be a rare act of sportsmanship on the part of the Roosevelt administration to lay off its until after the election."

The reply, authorized at the miners' convention, was read to cheering delegates by John L. Lewis, president of the UMW.

The Technical and Supervisory Employees union of District 50, UMW, is "getting a rotten deal from the government," said the reply which objected also to the omission of an individual signature, saying "we are not sure the telegram was not written by Abe Fortas who, as you know, is evilly disposed towards coal miners and is our cold and calculating enemy."

Fortas is undersecretary of the interior.

"We note," the UMW reply continued, "what the message says about the legal strike of supervisors at certain mines. We have been trying to be helpful on this matter; and our officers, too. The trouble, as you know, is the pulling and hauling of the various government agencies, all at cross purposes and each issuing orders that conflict with the other."

A column of Americans brought out for a rest after three days in the line said the German shelling at Metz was the heaviest they had experienced.

More Air Supplies

Canadian infantry on the seaward flank of the Allied line drove into Boulogne, cutting the enemy forces in that French channel port into isolated pockets. Fighting between the Americans and Germans at the Brittany port of Brest neared its final stage. The German commander of the Nazi garrison had been pressed into a narrow space and were under heavy attack.

A front dispatch said three columns of gliders bearing troops and planes carrying anti-tank guns, jeeps and artillery stretched for 25 miles in a two-hour stream from at least 25 airfields in central England yesterday.

Urge Postwar Use Of Grain For Rubber

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP) — A Senate agricultural subcommittee recommended today that the nation's grain-into-rubber industry be continued after the war to assure a market for surplus grains and an adequate source of rubber in the event of another conflict.

Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa) told the Senate that the continued use of grain for the making of synthetic rubber would provide employment on farms and in rubber factories and be a better solution to the farm problem than "paying farmers not to produce grain."

The committee report recommended the appointment of a Presidential committee to survey the advisability of turning surplus grains in ever-greater quantities into the industrial market.

REMOVE COAL

New York, Sept. 19 (AP) — Thirteen dealers have been compelled to remove from householders' cellars 204 tons of anthracite coal delivered in excess of the 50 per cent rule, which limits buying more than half the supply for the season to Oct. 1, the Solid Fuels Administration for War announced.

OPA ANNOUNCES CEILING PRICE FOR HARD COAL

Maximum prices for anthracite coal delivered in Zone 3, which includes Adams county, were announced today by the OPA.

The prices include:
Broken, egg, stove and nut coal at $13.10 per ton; pea coal, $11.50; buckwheat coal $9.70; rice coal $8.65 and Barley coal at $7.65.

The above prices are for deliveries made on a credit basis and are subject to a discount of 50 cents per ton, on deliveries of one ton or more, for payment within 10 days.

Maximum prices are also provided for delivered sales in quantities of one-half ton, one-quarter ton, 100 pound lots, and for sales made at dealers' yards. When anthracite must be delivered to the consumer's bin by carrying or wheeling from the curb, a maximum service charge of 50 cents per net ton is permitted, and when it must be carried up or downstairs a charge of 50 cents per ton per flight is permitted.

Three Advantages
"The new price schedule has three distinct advantages," the OPA said. "First, it eliminates differences in dealers' ceiling prices and in that way enables consumers to know just what the ceiling prices are. This also simplifies immeasurably the problem of enforcement."

"Second, users of anthracite, such as hospitals and charitable organizations, that have had difficulty in obtaining coal because of their low ceiling classification will now be able to secure adequate supplies, because the new ceiling prices are the same for all users."

It was pointed out that consumers who wish additional information or who have knowledge of violations of the new order should communicate with the Harrisburg District Office of the OPA, in the Blackstone building.

ROTARY HEARS RECORDED TALK

Members of the Gettysburg Rotary club meeting Monday evening at the YWCA heard a 16-minute recorded address by the Rotary International President, Richard H. Wells, and several talks by local club members.

Wells' speech discussed the four objects of Rotary and also told of the part the clubs could play in the post-war period of reconversion. Among the topics covered were the part Rotarians could play in finding jobs for returning veterans and the re-settlement of the soldiers.

Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Rotary information committee, gave a brief outline of the history of the organization, discussing its growth from one small club to the present-day strength of over 5,000 clubs with 250,000 members. His talk, and one by Charles L. Eicholtz, New Oxford, were made to acquaint new members of Rotary with the club's background.

In addition Eicholtz told of "what Rotary means to me." A letter dealing on the same subject and written by Richard D. Bircher, owner of the Boulevard Flying service, was read by Secretary Vernon D. Corle. Bircher was scheduled to make a talk but was unable to be present.

President Walter Africa presided and made a report on the club plans for the coming year. He also made a report of the activities of committees. About 36 members and these guests were present: R. M. Maynard, Gossport, New York, and C. A. Bixler, Hanover.

SCOUT TROOP PLANS PROGRAM

Plans for the court of honor tonight and for the collection of milkweed pods were made at a special meeting and Wiener rolf held by the members of Scout Troop No. 79 under the direction of Scoutmaster Jack Cessna Sunday.

The resumption of the regular weekly meetings, interrupted by the paralysis restrictions, was announced. Cessna also announced the Scout room will be opened at 7 o'clock Friday evening so patrols may prepare for the troop meetings at 7:30 o'clock.

He disclosed plans for a contest for scouts interested in making leaf and wood collections. The winning scout will be presented with a prize of scout equipment at the close of the contest to be announced later.

The troop has started classes for scouts interested in the pathfinding and civics merit badges. Other subjects will be covered later, Cessna said. He also reported the troop has plans for recruiting a number of new scouts to complete the membership. Interested boys have been asked to contact him or other members of the troop.

Canadian infantry on the seaward flank of the Allied line drove into Boulogne, cutting the enemy forces in that French channel port into isolated pockets. Fighting between the Americans and Germans at the Brittany port of Brest neared its final stage. The German communiqué said the surviving members of the Nazi garrison had been pressed into a narrow space and were under heavy attack.

A front dispatch said three columns of gliders bearing troops and planes carrying antitank guns, jeeps and artillery stretched for 285 miles in a two-hour stream from at least 25 airfields in central England yesterday.

Urge Postwar Use Of Grain For Rubber

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—A Senate agricultural subcommittee recommended today that the nation's grain-into-rubber industry be continued after the war to assure a market for surplus grains and an adequate source of rubber in the event of another conflict.

Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa) told the Senate that the continued use of grain for the making of synthetic rubber would provide employment on farms and in rubber factories and be a better solution to the farm problem than "paying farmers not to produce grain."

The committee report recommended the appointment of a Presidential committee to survey the advisability of turning surplus grains in ever-greater quantities into the industrial market.

REMOVE COAL

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Thirteen dealers have been compelled to remove from householders' cellars 204 tons of anthracite coal delivered in excess of the 50 per cent rule, which limits buying more than half the supply for the season to Oct. 1, the Solid Fuels Administration for War announced.

HOSPITAL FOR VETS

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Veterans Administration announced today it would open bids November 8 for construction of a 500-bed neuropsychiatric hospital at Lebanon, Pa. Included will be a main building, a continued treatment building, nurses quarters, garage, shops building and boiler house. Work is to be completed in 380 days.

MUST SAVE COAL

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—Governors of all states east of the Mississippi have been asked by Interior Secretary Ickes to start coal-saving campaigns.

OPA ANNOUNCES CEILING PRICE FOR HARD COAL

Maximum prices for anthracite coal delivered in Zone 3, which includes Adams county, were announced today by the OPA.

The prices include:
Broken, egg, stove and nut coal at $13.10 per ton; pea coal, $11.50; buckwheat coal $9.70; rice coal $8.65 and Barley coal at $7.65.

The above prices are for deliveries made on a credit basis and are subject to a discount of 50 cents per ton, on deliveries of one ton or more, for payment within 10 days.

Maximum prices are also provided for delivered sales in quantities of one-half ton, one-quarter ton, 100 pound lots, and for sales made at dealers' yards. When anthracite must be delivered to the consumer's bin by carrying or wheeling from the curb, a maximum service charge of 50 cents per net ton is permitted, and when it must be carried up or down stairs a charge of 50 cents per ton per flight is permitted.

Three Advantages
"The new price schedule has three distinct advantages," the OPA said. "First, it eliminates differences in dealers' ceiling prices and in that way enables consumers to know just what the ceiling prices are. This also simplifies immeasurably the problem of enforcement."

"Second, users of anthracite, such as hospitals and charitable organizations, that have had difficulty in obtaining coal because of their low ceiling classification will now be able to secure adequate supplies, because the new ceiling prices are the same for all users."

"Finally, dealers who were obtaining abnormally high margins, because of the adjustable pricing provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 123, will be restored to their December, 1941, base period margins."

It was pointed out that consumers who wish additional information or who have knowledge of violations of the new order should communicate with the Harrisburg District Office of the OPA, in the Blackstone building.

BULLETINS

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP) — A joint Congressional committee gave final approval to a postwar reconversion bill today after eliminating a senate provision to authorize unemployment compensation for $3, 100,000 federal employees and back home travel pay for discharged war workers.

With the Allied Airborne Army in Holland, Sept. 19 (AP) — The Germans are bringing up heavy artillery today in an attempt to destroy a strategic canal which American troops seized intact in the southern sector.

London, Sept. 19 (AP) — Around 700 Flying Fortresses attacked rail yards at Hamm and Soest today while other hundreds of Allied planes reinforced and supplied the airborne army invading Holland.

With the U. S. Third Army, Sept. 19 (AP) — A force of young German S. S. (Elite Guard) troops, described by American Doughboys as "drunk, doped or crazy," made a savage bayonet charge southeast of Nancy yesterday only to be slaughtered by the fire of U. S. Forces.

New York, Sept. 19 (AP) — The German radio in Denmark asserted today that sentries outside the palace in Copenhagen opened fire on German Marines late today, several hours after the Nazis occupied all public buildings and declared a "Police state of emergency" throughout the little kingdom.

Moscow, Sept. 19 (AP) — With Romania's fallen dictator, Marshal Ion Antonescu, and a host of German overlords in the Balkans in the Red Army's hands, Soviet Russia today powerfully reminded the western Allies that Axis war criminals must bear "full punishment for their monstrous crimes."

Weddings

Simpson—Leedy

Miss Jean Elizabeth Leedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Leedy, Gettysburg R. D. 3, and Glenn Elwood Simpson, Gettysburg R. D. 5, were united in marriage Saturday night at 8 o'clock in Flohr's Lutheran church, near Cashtown, by the Rev. A. R. Longanecker, Oak Ridge.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, William Leedy, of Seven Stars. She wore a white satin bridal gown with a long train, a finger tip tulle veil and carried a bouquet of pink roses and white chrysanthemums. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Leedy, was matron of honor and wore blue satin and carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds. Miss Mildred Smith, Gettysburg, was the bridesmaid and wore pink satin and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Kenneth Dayhoff, Gettysburg R. D. 5, was the best man. The ushers were Paul Kuykendall, Gettysburg, and Guy Raffensperger, Biglerville, a brother-in-law of the groom. Little Thomas Leedy, a brother of the bride, was the ring bearer and Doris Jean Raffensperger, Biglerville, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for a hundred guests was held at the home of the bride. She was formerly employed with the Blue Ridge Rubber company but will take up new duties at Swisher's grocery on York street. The bridegroom is employed by his brother on his farm.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and palms. Guests were present from Chambersburg and West Virginia.

Perdue—Reever

Miss Mary E. Reever, Gettysburg, and Herbert J. Perdue, Warm Springs, Ga., were married on Thursday at 3 p. m. in Westminster, Md. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the Rev. George A. Early, a minister of the Church of the Brethren. The bridegroom is a guard at the prisoners of war camp at Gettysburg.

ROTARY HEARS RECORDED TALK

Members of the Gettysburg Rotary club meeting Monday evening at the YWCA heard a 16-minute recorded address by the Rotary International President, Richard H. Wells, and several talks by local club members.

Wells' speech discussed the four objects of Rotary and also told of the part the clubs could play in the post-war period of reconversion. Among the topics covered were the part Rotarians could play in finding jobs for returning veterans and the re-settlement of the soldiers.

Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Rotary Information committee, gave a brief outline of the history of the organization, discussing its growth from one small club to the present-day strength of over 5,000 clubs with 250,000 members. His talk, and one by Charles L. Eicholtz, New Oxford, were made to acquaint new members of Rotary with the club's background.

In addition Eicholtz told of "what Rotary means to me." A letter dealing on the same subject and written by Richard D. Bircher, owner of the Boulevard Flying service, was read by Secretary Vernon D. Corle. Bircher was scheduled to make a talk but was unable to be present.

President Walter Africa presided and made a report on the club plans for the coming year. He also made a report of the activities of committees. About 36 members and these guests were present: R. M. Maynard, Gossport, New York, and C. A. Bixler, Hanover.

UMW CHEERS REPLY TO FDR

Cincinnati, Sept. 19 (AP) — The United Mine Workers, replying to an appeal by Interior Secretary Ickes for aid in preventing strikes of coal mine supervisors, asserted today "it would be a rare act of sportsmanship on the part of the Roosevelt administration to lay off us until after the election."

The reply, authorized at the miners' convention, was read to cheering delegates by John L. Lewis, president of the UMW.

The Technical and Supervisory Employees' union a unit of District 50, UMW, is "getting a rotten deal from the government," said the reply which objected also to the omission of an individual signature, saying "we are not sure the telegram was not written by Abe Fortas who, as you know, is evilly disposed towards coal miners and is our cold and calculating enemy."

Fortas is undersecretary of the interior. "We note," the UMW reply continued, "what the message says about the legal strike of supervisors at certain mines. We have been trying to be helpful on this matter; and our officers, too. The trouble, as you know, is the pulling and hauling of the various government agencies, all at cross purposes and each issuing orders that conflict with the other."

C - D Authorized To Act In Disaster

Harrisburg, Sept. 19 (AP) — The Pennsylvania Civilian Defense organization has been authorized by Governor Martin to act in all disasters and emergencies that may arise in the state for the duration of the war.

In assigning the volunteer workers to handle the new task Martin announced a program that provided for reorganization of the council's protective services.

As one step in the new set-up the governor's flood emergency committee which formerly directed relief work in flood areas was designated as the emergency disaster committee with James A. Kell state secretary of forests and water continuing as chairman.

Included in the organization are 650,000 volunteer air raid wardens, auxiliary police, rescue squads, fire guards, evacuation crews and others.

Plan Luxury Club For Enlisted Men

Paris, Sept. 19 (AP) — A luxury club for enlisted troops of all Allied nations—the pet idea of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—will be opened Oct. 1 in the internationally famous Grand hotel.

Directing officers say the club will be the first of its kind in the world, a place where all Allied enlisted personnel will be able to mingle and enjoy furloughs on a scale comparable with that of the wealthiest set.

GI Joe and his fighting pals will sleep between clean white sheets in soft beds. He will tread soft-carpeted floors and shower-bathe in large immaculate bathrooms. He will dine from real China in ornate dining rooms with mirror panels and rounded ceilings, sitting in a soft cushioned chair.

GATES SAW ATTACK

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 19 (AP) — From an aircraft carrier, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Artemus Gates witnessed the recent air strikes at the central Philippines, and he returned to tell a press conference here yesterday that the Palau island invasion would be a pattern for future action against the Philippines.

U. S. TO CHANGE WAGE POLICIES BUT HOW, WHEN?

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—If you work for a living—or if you hire people to work for you—this affects you:

1. It seems sure that the administration is going to change its wage policy in some way, giving workers an increase.

2. When will it change? Before election day or after Germany surrenders. If it happens before election day, Nov. 7, the opposition might scream "politics."

3. And how will it affect you? Labor complains that its wages have been held to a 15 per cent increase since Jan. 1, 1941 while living costs have risen 43.5 per cent. Government figures, much disputed, say they have risen only 25 per cent.

Back to 40-Hour Week
The WLB will reach a decision on labor's claims sometime in mid-October. It can recommend to the President that labor should get an increase or it can merely state the facts of the case.

But—we seem close to the time when Germany will quit and we will have only the war with Japan to worry about. When Germany folds, much of American industry will go back on a 40-hour week.

This will cut down the income of workers who have been working a 48-hour week. That 48-hour week will continue in war industries out will drop to 40 in the reconverted plants doing civilian jobs.

After Fall of Germany?

That will be in the transition period from war to peace and that is why Chairman Davis said:

"Now we pass into a period perhaps in which you have a continued shortage of goods but an abundance of labor. And any damn fool can foresee a change in economic conditions that would in all probability require a change in policy."

But when?

If the President waits until the German collapse, could a generous action toward labor on his part be considered a breaking of the wage formula?

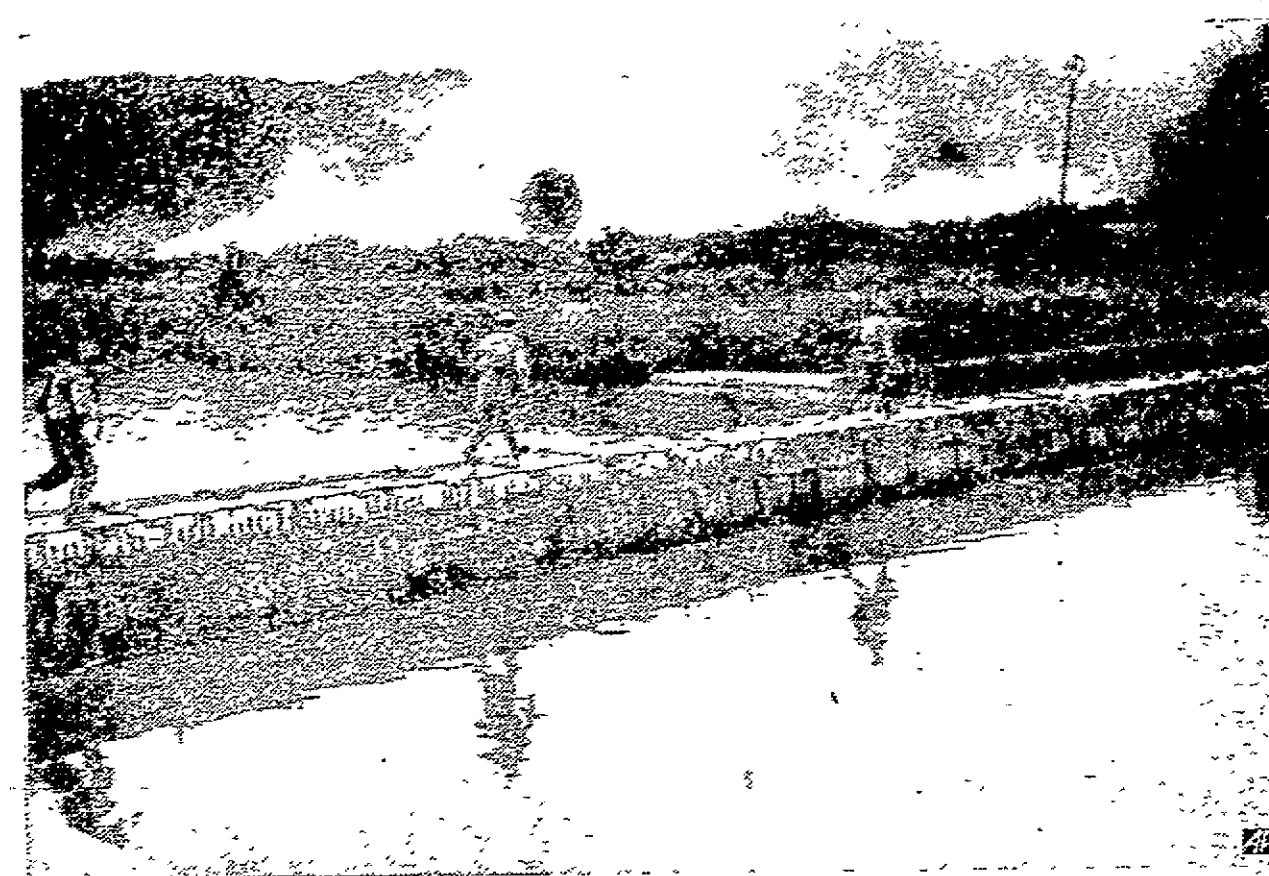

Or—would it be considered a new policy for after the German war when prices may be higher and labor will need more money?

Gettysburg Nine Splits Twin Bill

The Gettysburg Cardinals divided a double-header played Sunday with the Danvers, Md., nine at Woodboro, Md. The locals copped the first game 3-5 and lost the second 3-2. Patenuri hurled the first and Bud Knox the highcap. Included in the lineup for the locals were Stoness, Baumgardner, Knox, Kennel, Myers, Decker, Moser, George, Ogden, McCausin, Rhodes, Jones, Hess, Grove and Purenuri.

Next Sunday the locals will play Thurmont.

FLYING FORTS DROP ARMS AND FOOD IN WARSAW

Moscow, Sept. 19 (AP)—American Flying Fortresses in one of the largest shuttle operations ever sent into Russia dropped scores of tons of arms, food, ammunition and medicine to Polish patriots fighting inside Warsaw yesterday.

The U. S. Eastern Air Command announced today that two bombers and two escorting Mustang fighters were lost. Not a single plane carried bombs and all swooped thousands of feet below their cruising altitudes to make sure the supply canisters would parachute accurately into parts of Warsaw Gen. Bor's men are holding.

Russian fighters supported the American planes at Warsaw and over Russian territory, the Eastern Command communique said. The Mustangs destroyed four interceptors, strafed German installations and troops around Warsaw and then some wheeled back toward England for a record 1,900-mile roundtrip flight, the longest fighter sorties in the history of aviation.

Results Are Good
Bad weather over part of the shuttle cleared by the time the Polish capital was reached and the Americans said results were "very successful."

Capt. H. W. Brown, one of the foremost aces, destroyed his 27th German plane in combat, damaged another aloft and another on ground.

"Warsaw looked like a city in a heavy battle, with smoke everywhere," said Sgt. Albert Grasso, Paulboro, N. J., a waist gunner.

German aerial opposition was described officially as "not serious."

An intelligence officer, Capt. Kingsley Moore, Serickley, Pa., rode in one of the bombless bombers from England. He saw little more of Warsaw than the crewmen busy with their guns and instruments.

"It was all haze and smoke and the city seemed to be in the midst of a battle," he commented.

Confident Small Firms Can Convert

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—Maury Maverick, WPA's chairman of small business, predicted today that little firms will come safely through the reconversion scramble for civilian markets.

Maverick, chairman of smaller, flying fortresses, declared his belief that the War Production board's plan for prompt removal of most controls when Germany falls would release sufficient materials to prevent big business from "gobbling" the supply.

"However, small business must get the same financial opportunity as the big corporations," added Maverick, who has asked Congress to give SWPC powers of guaranteeing and financing loans to help small plants recover.

"This talk about coddling small business gives me a pain. The little companies have had to pay interest rates twice to four times as high as the big fellows during the war. Now we've got to arrange a combination of public and private financing to remove that disadvantage."

FLAG MADE OUT OF PETTICOATS USED ON ALTAR

The Camp Berkeley News, of Camp Berkeley, Texas, a G-I paper, carries the following interesting article on Captain J. E. Berkstresser, an Army Chaplain, and a former resident of Gettysburg.

"Draped across the altar of ASFTC Chapel No. 2 at Camp is a flag with a history. It is a worn and faded Confederate banner and is the property of Chaplain J. E. Berkstresser.

The 80-year-old relic is hand-made from ladies' petticoats and was fashioned to fly over the Confederate Hospital at Petersburg, Va. The women who were operating the hospital decided that it must have a flag, the Chaplain relates, but it wasn't one of those things you could just rush out and buy at the corner store. It had to be made, sewed by hand.

Use Petticoats
"That was no problem for the ladies, but the matter of material was. However, it didn't take them long to decide that, while they couldn't do without a flag, they could do without a petticoat or two here and there. And that's the way it was, with Miss Nora P. M. Davidson being elected to make the flag.

"When it had done its duty, the banner remained in Miss Davidson's possession until she died recently at a very advanced age. Upon her death she left it to Charles I. Friend of Petersburg and he in turn gave it to Chaplain Berkstresser. Not so long ago Friend was in ASFTC at Berkeley and knew of the chaplain's interest in the Civil War.

"Pinned to the faded flag was a note written by the woman who had made it. It reads: 'This certifies that Miss Nora P. Maury Davidson gives to Chas. Friend the Confederate flag made by her when she taught school during the "Un-Civil" War. Signed, Nora P. M. Davidson, 83 years of age.'

Lived In Gettysburg
"Chaplain Berkstresser is proudly displaying the flag although, as he points out, he is the son of a Yankee who served under Gen. U. S. Grant at the battle of the Crater, just outside Petersburg at the very time Miss Davidson's handiwork was fluttering over the hospital there.

"My father lived in Gettysburg, Pa., says the Chaplain, 'and was there during the battle in July, 1863. He heard President Lincoln's famous Gettysburg address on November 19 on his 18th birthday. The following February he joined the 21st Pennsylvania Cavalry Regiment and was on active duty until the surrender in 1865.

"I am certain my father saw this same flag flying over the Confederate Hospital in Petersburg, because he was General Grant's orderly during the battle there."

"The old Confederate flag, although its colors are faded almost beyond recognition, remains in a fair state of preservation. It is not the familiar Stars and Bars. It has three broad stripes, two of them red with one of white between. And in its field of blue are 13 stars arranged in a circular pattern.

"Chaplain Berkstresser hasn't decided whether he will keep the historic banner for himself. But he thinks he will give it to Mrs. Ida W. Elliott of Talladega, Ala., who operates a private museum of Indian, American colonial and Civil War relics. Until he does decide, the flag will remain on display in Chapel No. 2."

Says Shaughnessy Rejected Red Offer

Pittsburgh, Sept. 19 (AP)—Two months after he accepted the head football coaching job at the University of Pittsburgh, Clark D. Shaughnessy turned down an offer of $125,000 for a five-year contract to coach the Washington Redskins according to the pro club's owner, George Preston Marshall.

Marshall, here for the Redskins-Steelers game last night, told newsmen he had offered Shaughnessy last March $25,000 per year for five years.

"He said he likes his position at Pitt better than any he has ever held and hopes to be able to give the Panthers a winner," Marshall said.

POINT VALUES OF SOME FOODS UP

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—Housewives who went shopping today learned at first hand that skyrocketed blue point values had offset the reduction in the list of rationed foods.

New point values generally were about double the former ones, but in some cases the increases were even greater.

For example, a No. 2 can of tomatoes (18 ounces) which used to cost 5 points, today required 20, and the same sized can of tomato juice was up from 6 to 20 points.

Peaches, pears and pineapples, which had an old point value of 43 points, have been increased to 80 points. Pineapple juice went up from 25 to 50 points for a No. 2 can. Tomato catsup and chili sauce went up from 30 to 50 points for a 14-ounce container.

Point values of canned apples, applesauce, apricots, all varieties of berries, cherries, figs, fruit cocktail and plums and prunes were about double, but some increases exceeded 100 per cent.

Red point values for meats, butter, margarine, cheese, canned milk and canned fish remain unchanged.

ROBOMBS KILL FAMILY OF 5

London, Sept. 19 (AP)—Robot bombs apparently launched from planes over the North sea crashed down on London and southern England early today, killing a number of women and children. Some of the victims had ignored government appeals to remain at evacuation centers.

The attack was brief but at least 13 were killed, nine at one place and four at another.

Worried government officials repeated warnings that it was idiotic for women and children to return.

Of one family named Chumley, only blonde five-year-old Margaret remained alive today after a bomb landed in a garden. The bodies of her two sisters, an infant brother, mother and father were dug from the wreckage of the house. The sisters had just returned from evacuation.

Source Unknown

Shortly before noon, big guns on the British channel coast started throwing shells across the Strait of Dover. Warnings were sounded in Dover after 39 hours of freedom from German shelling.

The bomb attack came after a two-week's lull in which blackout lights have gone up.

This morning's attack came before dawn, the second in as many nights. The alert was brief. Among the dead were a young mother and baby.

Where the Germans are now launching the robots has not been learned. The fact that the recent attacks have included only a few bombs suggests they may have been loosed from aircraft. Some coastal areas still are held by the Germans, however, and there is said to be a possibility that the range of the robots may have been stepped up so that launching sites well inland could be used.

Laurels Capture Tilt At Utica

(By The Associated Press)
Harrisburg's champion Laurels remain in the Eastern league governor's cup running thanks to Harry Penny's pitching and Stan Wentzel's batting performances last night.

The Laurels, losers to the third-place Utica Blue Sox in the first two games of the best of five semi-finals, hit a winning stride last night at Utica to win 5 to 3. Penny scattered eight hits, while Wentzel batted four safe blows in four times up, including two doubles and a triple.

The teams clash tonight at Utica in the fourth game of the series. Southport Wilbur Reeser is scheduled to hurl for the Blue Sox. Bill Marshall is his likely opponent.

The winner of the series will meet the fourth-place Binghamton Triplets in the finals. The Triplets knocked off the second place Albany Senators three straight in their semi-final series.

Joe Baksi Meets Mauriello Friday

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Joe Baksi, the former Kulpmont, Pa. coal miner and Broadway Dime-a-Dance ballroom bouncer now rated the country's No. 1 civilian heavyweight, returns to Madison Square Garden Friday night for a 12-rounder against Tami Mauriello, chunky brawler from the Bronx.

Mauriello is currently No. 2 among the big boys. He dropped a close 10-round verdict to Baksi in the Garden in February. Since then, he has had three fights, winning all by knockouts.

Baksi is a 9 to 5 favorite, after being on the other end of the odds in their previous meeting.

Says Shaughnessy, Rejected Red Offer

Pittsburgh, Sept. 19 (AP)—Two months after he accepted the head football coaching job at the University of Pittsburgh, Clark D. Shaughnessy turned down an offer of $125,000 for a five-year contract to coach the Washington Redskins, according to the pro club's owner, George Preston Marshall.

Marshall, here for the Redskins-Steelers game last night, told newsmen he had offered Shaughnessy last March $25,000 per year for five years.

"He said he likes his position at Pitt better than any he has ever held and hopes to be able to give the Panthers a winner," Marshall said.

POINT VALUES OF SOME FOODS UP

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—Housewives who went shopping today learned at first hand that skyrocketed blue point values had offset the reduction in the list of rationed foods.

New point values generally were about double the former ones, but in some cases the increases were even greater.

For example, a No. 2 can of tomatoes (18 ounces) which used to cost 5 points, today required 20, and the same sized can of tomato juice was up from 6 to 20 points.

Peaches, pears and pineapples, which had an old point value of 43 points, have been increased to 80 points. Pineapple juice went up from 25 to 50 points for a No. 2 can. Tomato catsup and chili sauce went up from 30 to 50 points for a 14-ounce container.

Point values of canned apples, applesauce, apricots, all varieties of berries, cherries, figs, fruit cocktail and plums and prunes were about double, but some increases exceeded 100 per cent.

Red point values for meats, butter, margarine, cheese, canned milk and canned fish remain unchanged.

ROBOMBS KILL FAMILY OF 5

London, Sept. 19 (AP)—Robot bombs apparently launched from planes over the North Sea crashed down on London and southern England early today, killing a number of women and children. Some of the victims had ignored government appeals to remain at evacuation centers.

The attack was brief but at least 13 were killed, nine at one place and four at another.

Worried government officials repeated warnings that it was idiotic for women and children to return. Of one family named Chumley, only blonde five-year-old Margaret remained alive today after a buzz-bomb landed in a garden. The bodies of her two sisters, an infant brother, mother and father were dug from the wreckage of the house. The sisters had just returned from evacuation.

Shortly before noon, big guns on the British channel coast started throwing shells across the Strait of Dover. Warnings were sounded in Dover after 39 hours of freedom from German shelling.

The bomb attack came after a two-week's lull in which blackout lights had gone up.

This morning's attack came before dawn, the second in as many nights. The alert was brief. Among the dead were a young mother and baby.

Where the Germans are now launching the robots has not been learned. The fact that the recent attacks have included only a few bombs suggests they may have been loosed from aircraft. Some coastal areas still are held by the Germans, however, and there is said to be a possibility that the range of the robots may have been stepped up so that launching sites well inland could be used.

U. S. TO CHANGE WAGE POLICIES BUT HOW, WHEN?

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—If you work for a living—or if you hire people to work for you—this affects you:

1. It seems sure that the administration is going to change its wage policy in some way, giving workers an increase.

2. When will it change? Before election day or after Germany surrenders. If it happens before election day, Nov. 7, the opposition might scream "politics."

3. And how will it affect you?

Labor complains that its wages have been held to a 15 per cent increase since Jan. 1, 1941 while living costs have risen 43.5 per cent. Government figures, much disputed, say they have risen only 25 per cent.

Back to 40-Hour Week

The WLB will reach a decision on labor's claims sometime in mid-October. It can recommend to the President that labor should get an increase or it can merely state the facts of the case.

But—we seem close to the time when Germany will quit and we will have only the war with Japan to worry about. When Germany folds, much of American industry will go back on a 40-hour week.

This will cut down the income of workers who have been working a 48-hour week. That 48-hour week will continue in war industries but will drop to 40 in the reconverted plants doing civilian jobs.

After Fall of Germany?

That will be in the transition period from war to peace and that is why Chairman Davis said:

"Now we pass into a period perhaps in which you have a continued shortage of goods but an abundance of labor. And any damn fool can foresee a change in economic conditions that would in all probability require a change in policy."

But when?

If the President waits until the German collapse, could a generous action toward labor on his part be considered a breaking of the wage formula?

Or—would it be considered a new policy for after the German war when prices may be higher and labor will need more money?

Laurels Capture Tilt At Utica

(By The Associated Press) Hartford's champion Laurels remain in the Eastern league governor's cup running thanks to Harry Petty's pitching and Stan Wentzel's batting performances last night.

The Laurels, losers to the third-place Utica Blue Sox in the first two games of the best of five semifinals, hit a winning stride last night at Utica to win, 5 to 3. Petty scattered eight hits, while Wentzel batted four safe blows in four times up, including two doubles and a triple.

The teams clash tonight at Utica in the fourth game of the series. Southpaw Wilbur Reeser is scheduled to hurl for the Blue Sox. Bill Marshall is his likely opponent.

The winner of the series will meet the fourth-place Binghamton Triplets in the finals. The Triplets knocked off the second place Albany Senators three straight in their semi-final series.

FLYING FORTS DROP ARMS AND FOOD IN WARSAW

Moscow, Sept. 19 (AP)—American Flying Fortresses in one of the largest shuttle operations even sent into Russia dropped scores of tons of arms, food, ammunition and medicine to Polish patriots fighting inside Warsaw yesterday.

The U. S. Eastern Air Command announced today that two bombers and two escorting Mustang fighters were lost. Not a single plane carried bombs and all swooped thousands of feet below their cruising altitudes to make sure the supply canisters would parachute accurately into parts of Warsaw Gen. Bor's men are holding.

Russian fighters supported the American planes at Warsaw and over Russian territory, the Eastern Command communique said. The Mustangs destroyed four interceptors, strafed German installations and troops around Warsaw and then some wheeled back toward England for a record 1,900-mile roundtrip flight, the longest fighter sorties in the history of aviation.

Results Are Good

Capt. H. W. Brown, one of the foremost aces, destroyed his 27th German plane in combat, damaged another aloft and another aground.

"Warsaw looked like a city in a heavy battle, with smoke everywhere," said Sgt. Albert Grasso, Paulsboro, N. J., a waist gunner.

German aerial opposition was described officially as "not serious."

An intelligence officer, Capt. Kingsley Moore, Sewickley, Pa., rode in one of the bombless bombers from England. He saw little more of Warsaw than the crewmen busy with their guns and instruments.

"It was all haze and smoke and the city seemed to be in the midst of a battle," he commented.

Confident Small Firms Can Convert

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—Maury Maverick, WPB's chairman of small business, predicted today that little firms will come safely through the reconversion scramble for civilian markets.

Maverick, chairman of smaller war plants corporation, declared his belief that the War Production board's plan for prompt removal of most controls when Germany falls would release sufficient materials to prevent big business from "gobbling" the supply.

"However, small business must get the same financial opportunity as the big corporations," added Maverick, who has asked Congress to give SWPC powers of guaranteeing and financing loans to help small plants reconvert.

"This talk about coddling small business gives me a pain. The little companies have had to pay interest rates twice to four times as high as the big fellows during the war. Now we've got to arrange a combination of public and private financing to remove that disadvantage."

FLAG MADE OUT OF PETTICOATS USED ON ALTAR

The Camp Berkeley News, of Camp Berkeley, Texas, a G-I paper, carries the following interesting article on Captain J. E. Berkstresser, an Army Chaplain, and a former resident of Gettysburg.

"Draped across the altar of ASPTC Chapel No. 2 at Camp is a flag with a history. It is a worn and faded Confederate banner and is the property of Chaplain J. E. Berkstresser.

"The 80-year-old relic is hand-made from ladies' petticoats and was fashioned to fly over the Confederate Hospital at Petersburg, Va. The women who were operating the hospital decided that it must have a flag, the Chaplain relates, but it wasn't one of those things you could just rush out and buy at the corner store. It had to be made, sewed by hand.

Use Petticoats

"That was no problem for the ladies, but the matter of material was. However, it didn't take them long to decide that, while they couldn't do without a flag, they could do without a petticoat or two here and there. And that's the way it was, with Miss Nora P. M. Davidson being elected to make the flag.

"When it had done its duty, the banner remained in Miss Davidson's possession until she died recently at a very advanced age. Upon her death she left it to Charles L. Friend of Petersburg and he in turn gave it to Chaplain Berkstresser. Not so long ago Friend was in ASPTC at Berkeley and knew of the chaplain's interest in the Civil War.

"Pinned to the faded flag was a note written by the woman who had made it. It reads:

"This certifies that Miss Nora P. Maury Davidson gives to Chas. Friend the Confederate flag made by her when she taught school during the 'Un-Civil' War. Signed, Nora P. M. Davidson, 88 years of age."

Lived In Gettysburg

"Chaplain Berkstresser is proudly displaying the flag although, as he points out, he is the son of a Yankee who served under Gen. U. S. Grant at the battle of the Crater, just outside Petersburg at the very time Miss Davidson's handiwork was fluttering over the hospital there.

"My father lived in Gettysburg, Pa.," says the Chaplain, "and was there during the battle in July, 1863. He heard President Lincoln's famous Gettysburg address on November 19 on his 18th birthday. The following February he joined the 21st Pennsylvania Cavalry Regiment and was on active duty until the surrender in 1865.

"I am certain my father saw this same flag flying over the Confederate Hospital in Petersburg, because he was General Grant's orderly during the battle there."

"The old Confederate flag, although its colors are faded almost beyond recognition, remains in a fair state of preservation. It is not the familiar Stars and Bars. It has three broad stripes, two of them red with one of white between. And in its field of blue are 13 stars arranged in a circular pattern.

"Chaplain Berkstresser hasn't decided whether he will keep the historic banner for himself. But he thinks he will give it to Mrs. Ida W. Elliott of Talladega, Ala., who operates a private museum of Indian, American colonial and Civil War relics. Until he does decide, the flag will remain on display in Chapel No. 2."

Fall, winter, spring and summer it helps keep cows out of mud, dust, filth—cuts down work of cleaning cows before milking. A big factor now that farm help is short and every effort is being made to increase milk production.

When cows wade through mud they waste energy needed for producing milk. Owners say a paved barnyard soon pays for itself by helping produce more and better quality milk.

Paste coupon on penny postcard and mail today for free instructions for paving your barnyard or building other durable, thrifty, sanitary structures with concrete.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Local Miscellany: Mr. Charles M. Young, the prominent young artist of Gettysburg, has just completed an excellent and life-like oil painting of the Hon. David Willis. He is seated in a chair, with a book in his hand and several books are on a table near by. The position is natural, and the work is well done.

Register and Recorder Sowers has purchased the property of Mrs. Snyder on Baltimore street and intends to erect a two-story brick house on the site.

Chambersburg street, beyond the Reading railroad, is being graded on Seminary Ridge.

At a recent meeting of the teachers of Cumberland township, for the purpose of organizing a District Institute, the following officers were elected: President, John W. Black; vice president, Miss Phoebe Gares; secretary, Miss Amber L. Diehl; assistant secretary, Miss Luella McAllister; treasurer, Miss Laura A. Diehl. It was decided to hold the first meeting at Round Top school house October 20. All friends of education are cordially invited.

Marriages: Boyer-Bollinger—Sept. 3, at Heidelberg, by Rev. Jerome H. Furner, Tobias M. Boyer, of Huntingdon township, to Miss Vertie Bollinger, of Tyrone township.

Eyer-Burr—Sept. 4, at Fairfield, by Dr. R. Musselman, Esq., Sanford M. Eyer to Miss Sallie C. Burr, both of Liberty township.

Lawyer-Stoops—Sept. 13, at Fairfield, by Rev. J. F. Mackley, John H. Lawyer to Miss Clara Stoops, both of Franklin township.

Smith-Gensler—Sept. 13, at Hanover, by Rev. Joseph D. Peters, Jacob Smith, of Strasburg township, to Miss Elsie M. Gensler, of Butler township.

Sachs-Snyder—Sept. 11, at Littlestown, by Rev. W. C. Wire, Emory E. Sachs to Miss Ella A. Snyder, both of Mountjoy township.

During the month of October, Schumucker Duncan will offer at Gettysburg a course of study in Tenneyson, Browning, and Shakespeare. The course will also include a consideration of the various forms of poetry (epic, lyric, dramatic, etc.) and of the metre of English verse.

DEWEY ASSAILS LABOR RECORD OF NEW DEAL

By JACK BELL

En Route to Portland With Dewey, Sept. 19 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey swiftly shifted his campaign attack on the New Deal today to aim a blow at what many regard as the heart of the Democratic appeal for re-election with a speech scheduled tonight at 10:30 p. m. EWT in the Portland, Oregon, ice palace on the subject "Is There an Indispensable Man?"

Obviously elated at the yelling, whistling reception given his slugging assault on the Administration's labor record at Seattle last night, the Republican presidential nominee made the short train hop to Portland for his second major speech of his west coast tour drive.

With a sympathetic crowd cheering him on, Dewey saluted into the New Deal last night with a bare knuckled attack on what he described as home from "quarreling, bickering and confusion."

"Responsible for Strikes"

About 8,000 persons packed themselves into Seattle's Civic auditorium to hear the dapperly attired governor and hundreds listened in an adjacent park, where loudspeakers were provided.

Punching at the Roosevelt administration with the charge that it was "exclusively responsible for the most serious wartime strikes," Dewey told a crowd which included many war workers but few persons in service uniforms that there has been no chart or compass for labor in the New Deal.

"I refuse to believe," the nominee shouted, "that workers in this country will play the role of supplicants to any throng. I refuse to believe that any man or group of men can deliver any section of our people by holding the power of government over their heads as a club."

Hits WLB Record

As an alternative Dewey offered a Republican labor platform which, boiled down, called for the appointment of a Secretary of Labor from union ranks, decentralization of governmental labor functions in the department, the abolition of "wasteful competing bureaus" and the cessation of any "privilege for one group over any other group."

The War Labor board, he said, "has supreme control over the vital matters of wages and conditions of employment. Whether by design or sheer incompetence, its practice has been to stall—weeks, months, sometimes years—before issuing decisions."

"This policy of delay, delay and more delay serves only the New Deal and its political ends."

This policy, Dewey went on, has set the stage for "a great gesture—a big favor to labor before election day—a gesture carefully designed to make labor believe that something it is justly entitled to is a special gift from on high from the New Deal."

"12 Years of Bungling"

The nominee did not explain the nature of this expected "gesture" but it seemed apparent that he was hinting at the possibility of an upward revision in the "Little Steel" wage formula.

"For 12 straight years of New Deal bungling," he said, "the Department of Labor has been left in the hands of an estimable lady who has been Secretary of Labor in name only."

Dewey dismissed the Smith-Connelly act as a failure which will terminate with the end of the war, "as it should." The act was passed over Presidential veto. It was introduced in both Houses by Democrats and passed with strong Republican support over the opposition of some New Dealers, and then was repassed over the veto.

Our brave soldier boys do not embody the only tragic casualties during times of war. Back home are the Mothers—carrying on, praying, sacrificing, dedicating themselves, wondering and hoping, yet with undying faith. Never can any material gifts, nor medals, ever adequately pay just tribute to Mothers. To do away with all war trouble would honor them most.

I believe it was in Orson Waters' book "The Virginian" that he brought out the idea that over-mothered a baby around in his heart. Perhaps that is true—but there is a Mother there as well.

Reconversion Acts Near Final Phase

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The long and bitter struggles between the senate and house over post war reconversion and surplus property disposal bills today entered its final phase.

With the House standing pat against Senate-approved back home travel pay up to $300 for war workers and unemployment coverage for 3,100,000 federal employees, Senate conferees apparently faced the choice of backing down or abandoning the other features of the George Demobilization and Reconversion bill.

Better prospects favored the companion surplus property disposal bill, the other major legislation holding up a recess to begin later in the week and to continue past the November election.

Remie, Sept. 19 (AP)—An angered Italian mob dragged the former Roman jail director, Dr. Donato Carretta, from a courtroom Monday and beat him to death in the waters of the Tiber. Mobsters strung his body feet-first from a window in the prison from which the prosecution declared, he had turned 50 hostages over to the Germans.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Sept. 19 (AP)—An Allied military government under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be established in Germany as the invasion armies move in, a spokesman at supreme headquarters announced Monday in a broadcast beamed to the Reich.

FINLAND MAY FARE BETTER THAN ITALY

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

Substituting for Dewitt Mackenzie

Well, Finland has completed the circuit. Ending her second war in five years, she finds herself involved in a third.

Of all the by-products of the main war, Finland's situation is probably the strangest. She fought one war to prevent the Russians from taking territory vitally needed by the Reds when the time came to protect Leningrad. By a brave stand and with the aid of one of the smartest propaganda campaigns ever waged, she had the sympathy of a large portion of the world, although her defeat proved later to have been essential to the cause of the United Nations.

Then she installed a government which appealed to all her patriotic instincts, although actually it was pro-Nazi as well as anti-Russian, and when she thought the opportunity was good, joined the Hitlerites against Russia in a futile effort for revenge. England joined Russia in the war on Finland. The United States did not, although American weapons in Russian hands were what finally reversed the German-Finnish tide.

Lives in Wrong Place

And now Finland fights Hitler. Yet, in one of the strangest angles of the whole Finnish case, Germany has actually handed her a hope for the future where two months ago there was almost none.

Had the Germans withdrawn from Finland as agreed, the little country would have ended the war merely as the beaten satellite of Hitler, ranged against more than 40 nations. Now that Germany has forced her to the other side, Finland has a chance in the short time remaining, to place herself in a much better position.

That Finland will be entirely welcomed into the winning fold is more than she can expect. Although a great portion of her trouble arose merely from the fact that she lives in the wrong place and was doing what had to be done, she didn't have to like it. She may come out better than Italy, which earned only contempt, but not much. Even once-sympathetic Washington will remember that Finnish acts which caused the ouster of minister Procopio despite his great personal popularity.

And the Russians are going to collect, in cash, strategic rights and territory.

UNNRA STUDIES REFUGEE HELP

Montreal, Sept. 19 (AP)—The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration is considering possible ways and means of helping to repatriate the thousands of European refugees in the United States and western hemisphere nations.

Their plight was passed over by the UNNRA at its first conference almost a year ago. When the problem of the 20,000,000 people who have been forcibly shifted around in Europe by the Germans was a major consideration.

The latter still are a major worry, but the UNNRA also has placed on its current agenda the matter of "displaced persons located in territory which has never been occupied by the enemy." This includes all the neutral nations of Europe and all the western hemisphere from Canada to Argentina.

Large numbers of these refugees left home for political reasons before the war broke and others fled ahead of the advancing German armies.

Many of them still have money. Many have found jobs in their lands of host. But many will be without funds when the war ends. It is the job of helping these last which the UNNRA now takes on as a new responsibility, say United Nations legal experts here.

An orphan step is not a new one, but a rank of poor, each standing one note.

ALLIES SMASH NEW GAINS IN "GOTHIC LINE"

By NOLAN NORGAARD

Rome, Sept. 19 (AP)—Breaking through formidable Nazi fortification and scoring what was officially termed a "great success," American Fifth Army troops yesterday captured 3,300-foot Monte Partone, Monte Aluzzo and Monte Celli in the Gothic line 20 miles northeast of Florence.

The enemy was driven from these heights after one of the fiercest days of fighting in the entire Italian campaign, official field dispatches said.

British and Indian troops under Fifth Army command contributed materially to the American success by executing flanking movements.

The Germans opposed the attack with extreme concentrations of artillery fire. In one barrage 2,000 shells were fired against the advancing Americans. The Germans also made "maximum use of mortars and small arms" headquarters said.

Nearing Bologna

San Marino's frontier was crossed at the town of Faetano, where the Marano river intersects the border. A bridgehead was established there, and the British advanced one mile toward the city of San Marino itself.

The successful attack brought the Americans within 27 miles of Bologna, important communications and industrial center in the Po valley. Most of the intervening terrain, however, is rough and well fortified.

Emontered fighting without substantial changes in the situation continued near the Adriatic south of Rimini. West of San Marino, Canadians advanced to the Ausa river at a point about three airline miles southwest of Rimini in a heavy battle with enemy tanks and infantry.

Greek troops reached the northern edge of Rimini airfield, two miles from the edge of the city.

The latest Eighth Army attacks toward Rimini and the major Allied goal—a break through into the Po valley—was accompanied by one of the heaviest day and night aerial offensives ever made on enemy defenses in Italy.

Propose Raise For P.O. Workers

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Senate Postoffice committee announced today it would open hearings at once on a proposal to boost the pay of 350,000 postal workers.

This aroused special interest in view of current attempts to raise wartime wage controls.

The committee will be held by the committee "in support of a bill by Senator Mead (D-N.Y.) to give all full-time post office employees a 40% permanent annual salary increase, in place of the temporary wartime bonus of 30% voted by Congress in April, 1943. The temporary increase is to expire June 30, 1945.

The bill also would increase by 23 per cent the permanent pay scales of part-time employees, and those paid on an hourly or piece basis. This would be eight per cent above present Little Steel formula limits.

DEWEY ASSAILS LABOR RECORD OF NEW DEAL

By JACK BELL

En Route to Portland With Dewey, Sept. 19 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey swiftly shifted his campaign attack on the New Deal today to aim a blow at what many regard as the heart of the Democratic appeal for re-election with a speech scheduled tonight at 10:30 p. m. (EWT) in the Portland, Oregon, ice palace on the subject "Is There an Indispensable Man?"

Obviously elated at the yelling, whistling reception given his slugging assault on the Administration's labor record at Seattle last night, the Republican presidential nominee made the short train hop to Portland for his second major speech of his west coast vote drive.

With a sympathetic crowd cheering him on, Dewey sailed into the New Deal last night with a bare knuckled attack on what he described as home front "quarreling, bickering and confusion."

"Responsible for Strikes" About 8,000 persons packed themselves into Seattle's Civic auditorium to hear the dapperly-attired governor and hundreds listened in an adjacent park, where loudspeakers were provided.

Punching at the Roosevelt administration with the charge that it was "exclusively responsible for the most serious wartime strikes," Dewey told a crowd which included many war workers but few persons in service uniforms that there has been no chart or compass for labor in the New Deal.

"I refuse to believe," the nominee shouted, "that workers in this country will play the role of supplicants to any throng. I refuse to believe that any man or group of men can deliver any section of our people by holding the power of government over their heads as a club."

Hits WLB Record As an alternative Dewey offered a Republican labor platform which, boiled down, called for the appointment of a Secretary of Labor from union ranks, decentralization of governmental labor functions in the department, the abolition of "wasteful competing bureaus" and the cessation of any "privilege for one group over any other group."

The War Labor board, he said, "has supreme control over the vital matters of wages and conditions of employment. Whether by design or sheer incompetence, its practice has been to stall—weeks, months, sometimes years—before issuing decisions."

"This policy of delay, delay and more delay serves only the New Deal and its political ends."

This policy, Dewey went on, has set the stage for "a great gesture—a big favor to labor before election day—a gesture carefully designed to make labor believe that something it is justly entitled to is a special gift from on high from the New Deal."

"12 Years of Bungling" The nominee did not explain the nature of this expected "gesture" but it seemed apparent that he was hinting at the possibility of an upward revision in the "Little Steel" wage formula.

"For 12 straight years of New Deal bungling," he said, "the Department of Labor has been left in the hands of an estimable lady who has been Secretary of Labor in name only."

Dewey dismissed the Smith-Connally act as a failure which will terminate with the end of the war, "as it should." The act was passed over Presidential veto. It was introduced in both Houses by Democrats and passed with strong Republican support over the opposition of some New Dealers, and then was repassed over the veto.

Reconversion Acts Near Final Phase

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The long and bitter struggles between the senate and house over post war reconversion and surplus property disposal bills today entered its final phases.

With the House standing pat against Senate-approved back home travel pay up to $200 for war workers and unemployment coverage for 3,100,000 federal employees, Senate conferees apparently faced the choice of backing down or abandoning the other features of the George Demobilization and Reconversion bill.

Better prospects favored the companion surplus property disposal bill, the other major legislation holding up a recess to begin later in the week and to continue past the November election.

Rome, Sept. 19 (AP)—An angered Italian mob dragged the former Roman jail director, Dr. Donato Carretta, from a courtroom Monday and beat him to death in the waters of the Tiber. Mobsters strung his body feet-first from a window in the prison from which the prosecution declared, he had turned 50 hostages over to the Germans.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Sept. 19 (AP)—An Allied military government under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be established in Germany as the invasion armies move in, a spokesman at supreme headquarters announced Monday in a broadcast beamed to the Reich.

FINLAND MAY FARE BETTER THAN ITALY

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

Substituting for Dewitt Mackenzie Well, Finland has completed the circuit. Ending her second war in five years, she finds herself involved in a third.

Of all the by-products of the main war, Finland's situation is probably the strangest. She fought one war to prevent the Russians from taking territory vitally needed by the Reds when the time came to protect Leningrad. By a brave stand and with the aid of one of the smartest propaganda campaigns ever waged, she had the sympathy of a large portion of the world, although her defeat proved later to have been essential to the cause of the United Nations.

Then she installed a government which appealed to all her patriotic instincts, although actually it was pro-Nazi as well as anti-Russian, and when she thought the opportunity was good, joined the Hitlerites against Russia in a futile effort for revenge. England joined Russia in the war on Finland. The United States did not, although American weapons in Russian hands were what finally reversed the German-Finnish tide.

Lives in Wrong Place And now Finland fights Hitler. Yet, in one of the strangest angles of the whole Finnish case, Germany has actually handed her a hope for the future where two months ago there was almost none.

Had the Germans withdrawn from Finland as agreed, the little country would have ended the war merely as the beaten satellite of Hitler, ranged against more than 40 nations. Now that Germany has forced her to the other side, Finland has a chance, in the short time remaining, to place herself in a much better position.

That Finland will be entirely welcomed into the winning fold is more than she can expect. Although a great portion of her trouble arose merely from the fact that she lives in the wrong place and was doing what had to be done, she didn't have to like it. She may come out better than Italy, which earned only contempt, but not much. Even once-sympathetic Washington will remember that Finnish acts which caused the ouster of minister Procopio despite his great personal popularity.

And the Russians are going to collect, in cash, strategic rights, and territory.

Propose Raise For P.O. Workers

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Senate Postoffice committee announced today it would open hearings at once on a proposal to boost the pay of 350,000 postal workers. This aroused especial interest in view of current attempts to relax wartime wage controls.

First eyewitness will be heard by the committee tomorrow in support of a bill by Senator Mead (D-N.Y.) to give all full time post office employees a $400 permanent annual salary increase, in place of the temporary wartime bonus of $300 voted by Congress in April of 1943. The temporary increase is to expire June 30, 1945.

The bill also would increase by 23 per cent the permanent pay scales of part time employees and those paid on an hourly or fee basis. This would be eight per cent above present Little Steel formula limits.

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—A Yugoslav broadcast declared Monday that the partisan forces of Marshal Tito had captured the son of Gen. Draa Mihailovic, whom Tito repeatedly has accused of collaborating with the Germans.

UNNRA STUDIES REFUGEE HELP

Montreal, Sept. 19 (AP)—The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration is considering possible ways and means of helping to repatriate the thousands of European refugees in the United States and western hemisphere nations.

Their plight was passed over by the UNRRA at its first conference almost a year ago, when the problem of the 20,000,000 people who have been forcibly shifted around in Europe by the Germans was a major consideration.

The latter still are a major worry, but the UNRRA also has placed on its current agenda the matter of "displaced persons located in territory which has never been occupied by the enemy." This includes all the neutral nations of Europe and all the western hemisphere from Canada to Argentina.

Large numbers of these refugees left home for political reasons before the war broke and others fled ahead of the advancing German armies.

Many of them still have money. Many have found jobs in their lands of haven. But many will be without funds when the war ends. It is the job of helping these last which the UNRRA may take on as a new responsibility, say United Nations legal experts here.

ALLIES SMASH NEW GAINS IN "GOTHIC LINE"

By NOLAN NORGARD

Rome, Sept. 19 (AP)—Breaking through formidable Nazi fortification and scoring what was officially termed a "great success," American Fifth Army troops yesterday captured 3,300-foot Monte Partone, Monte Altuzzo and Monte Celli in the Gothic line 20 miles northeast of Florence.

The enemy was driven from these heights after one of the fiercest days of fighting in the entire Italian campaign, official field dispatches said.

British and Indian troops under Fifth Army command contributed materially to the American success by executing flanking movements.

The Germans opposed the attack with extreme concentrations of artillery fire. In one barrage 2,000 shells were fired against the advancing Americans. The Germans also made "maximum use of mortars and small arms" headquarters said.

Nearing Bologna San Marino's frontier was crossed at the town of Faetano, where the Marano river intersects the border. A bridgehead was established there, and the British advanced one mile toward the city of San Marino itself.

The successful attack brought the Americans within 27 miles of Bologna, important communications and industrial center in the Po valley. Most of the intervening terrain, however, is rough and well fortified.

Embittered fighting without substantial changes in the situation continued near the Adriatic south of Rimini. West of San Martino, Canadians advanced to the Ausa river at a point about three airline miles southwest of Rimini in a heavy battle with enemy tanks and infantry.

Greek troops reached the northern edge of Rimini airfield, two miles from the edge of the city.

The latest Eighth Army attacks toward Rimini and the major Allied goal—a break through into the Po valley—was accompanied by one of the heaviest day and night aerial offensives ever made on enemy defenses in Italy.

POSTWAR WOMAN
Some day I'm sure that she will say:
"I cannot stand the grind of gear.
I want a little garden gay,
And happy children playing near,
I want afresh the beds to make,
The silverware and glass to shine,
And there are sweets I want to bake
All in a kitchen that is mine."

Some day, and soon 'twill be I think,
She'll tire of bench and torch and gauge
And want a white enamel sink,
And tins for savory and sage.
She'll quit the work she's learned to do
To free some man for battle grim,
And give up wearing denim blue
For frocks and ruffled aprons trim.
When freedom's safe on land and sea,
And men return to peaceful trades,
At home again she'll long to be
On guard 'gainst all that life degrades.
As she was taught, she'll want to teach
Her children small both prayer and creed,
And conduct brave and proper speech
And give to them the care they'll need.

Today's Talk

MOTHERS ETERNAL

I recently read of the new laws and protective measures that Russia has just made to knit the family more securely, and to honor Motherhood. Of course, no laws, ideas, or schemes can ever be devised to adequately honor Motherhood. It is a happy omen, however, when any government goes to the length of honoring it.

The new law in Russia, says, as reported in the New York Times, that "prospective mothers of five or more children will qualify for medals. For rearing families of five and six, a Motherhood Medal is awarded; mothers of seven, eight, or nine children, will receive the Order of Glory, while mothers of ten or more children will in future be known as 'Mother Heroines.'"

Well, that's fine, but how about honoring the mothers of the boys of all wars, who have given them forever to Freedom? On my desk is the letter from such a mother, with a broken heart, her only boy dying in an enemy prison camp. And how about those mothers who have given more than one precious treasure, loved and nurtured throughout the years? I would place them all in the Order of God's Angels. Even that, however, never could repay them for their sufferings, sorrows and sacrifices.

Divinely inspired, personified of love, heroically planned, exalted in courage and selflessness, imbued with the essence of beauty these are but a few of the attributes of Mothers. The very name of Mother, in any language, takes precedence above every other name, save that of her creator—God.

Our brave soldier boys do not embody the only tragic casualties during times of war. Back home are the Mothers—carrying on, praying, sacrificing, dedicating themselves, wondering and hoping, yet with undying faith. Never can any material gifts, nor medals, ever adequately pay just tribute to Mothers. To do away with all war forever would honor them most.

I believe it was in Owen Wister's book, "The Virginian," that he brought out the idea that every man carried a baby around in his heart. Perhaps that is true—but there is a Mother there, as well!

Dewey swiftly shifted his campaign attack on the New Deal today to aim a blow at what many regard as the heart of the Democratic appeal for re-election with a speech scheduled tonight at 10:30 p. m. EWT) in the Portland, Oregon, ice palace on the subject "Is There an Indispensable Man?"

Obviously elated at the yelling, whistling reception given his slugging assault on the Administration's labor record at Seattle last night, the Republican presidential nominee made the short train hop to Portland for his second major speech of his west coast vote drive.

With a sympathetic crowd cheering him on, Dewey sailed into the New Deal last night with a bare knuckled attack on what he described as home front "quarreling, bickering and confusion."

"Responsible for Strikes" About 8,000 persons packed themselves into Seattle's Civic auditorium to hear the dapperly-attired governor and hundreds listened in an adjacent park, where loudspeakers were provided.

Punching at the Roosevelt administration with the charge that it was "exclusively responsible for the most serious wartime strikes," Dewey told a crowd which included many war workers but few persons in service uniforms that there has been no chart or compass for labor in the New Deal.

"I refuse to believe," the nominee shouted, "that workers in this country will play the role of supplicants to any throng. I refuse to believe that any man or group of men can deliver any section of our people by holding the power of government over their heads as a club."

Hits WLB Record As an alternative Dewey offered a Republican labor platform which, boiled down, called for the appointment of a Secretary of Labor from union ranks, decentralization of governmental labor functions in the department, the abolition of "wasteful competing bureaus" and the cessation of any "privilege for one group over any other group."

The War Labor board, he said, "has supreme control over the vital matters of wages and conditions of employment. Whether by design or sheer incompetence, its practice has been to stall—weeks, months, sometimes years—before issuing decisions."

"This policy of delay, delay and more delay serves only the New Deal and its political ends," he set the stage for "a great gesture—a big favor to labor before election day—a gesture carefully designed to make labor believe that something it is justly entitled to is a special gift from on high from the New Deal."

"12 Years of Bungling" The nominee did not explain the nature of this expected "gesture" but it seemed apparent that he was hinting at the possibility of an upward revision in the "Little Steel" wage formula.

"For 12 straight years of New Deal bungling," he said, "the Department of Labor has been left in the hands of an estimable lady who has been Secretary of Labor in name only."

Dewey dismissed the Smith-Connelly act as a failure which will terminate with the end of the war, "as it should." The act was passed over Presidential veto. It was introduced in both Houses by Democrats and passed with strong Republican support over the opposition of some New Dealers, and then was repassed over the veto.

Reconversion Acts Near Final Phase

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The long and bitter struggles between the senate and house over post war reconversion and surplus property disposal bills today entered its final phase.

With the House standing pat against Senate-approved back home travel pay up to $200 for war workers and unemployment coverage for 3,100,000 federal employees, Senate conferees apparently faced the choice of backing down or abandoning the other features of the George Demobilization and Reconversion bill.

Better prospects favored the companion surplus property disposal bill, the other major legislation holding up a recess to begin later in the week and to continue past the November election.

Rome, Sept. 19 (AP)—An angered Italian mob dragged the former Roman jail director, Dr. Donato Carretta, from a courtroom Monday and beat him to death in the waters of the Tiber. Mobsters strung his body feet-first from a window in the prison from which, the prosecution declared, he had turned 50 hostages over to the Germans.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Sept. 19 (AP)—An Allied military government under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be established in Germany as the invasion armies move in, a spokesman at supreme headquarters announced Monday in a broadcast beamed to the Reich.

FINLAND MAY FARE BETTER THAN ITALY

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

Substituting for Dewitt Mackenzie Well, Finland has completed the circuit. Ending her second war in five years, she finds herself involved in a third.

Of all the by-products of the main war, Finland's situation is probably the strangest. She fought one war to prevent the Russians from taking territory vitally needed by the Reds when the time came to protect Leningrad. By a brave stand and with the aid of one of the smartest propaganda campaigns ever waged, she had the sympathy of a large portion of the world, although her defeat proved later to have been essential to the cause of the United Nations.

Then she installed a government which appealed to all her patriotic instincts, although actually it was pro-Nazi as well as anti-Russia, and when she thought the opportunity was good, joined the Hitlerites against Russia in a futile effort for revenge. England joined Russia in the war on Finland. The United States did not, although American weapons in Russian hands were what finally reversed the German-Finnish tide.

Lives in Wrong Place And now Finland fights Hitler. Yet, in one of the strangest angles of the whole Finnish case, Germany has actually handed her a hope for the future where two months ago there was almost none.

Had the Germans withdrawn from Finland as agreed, the little country would have ended the war merely as the beaten satellite of Hitler, ranged against more than 40 nations. Now that Germany has forced her to the other side, Finland has a chance, in the short time remaining, to place herself in a much better position.

That Finland will be entirely well-come into the winning fold is more than she can expect. Although a great portion of her trouble arose merely from the fact that she lives in the wrong place and was doing what had to be done, she didn't have to like it. She may come out better than Italy, which earned only contempt, but not much. Even once-sympathetic Washington will remember that Finnish acts which caused the ouster of minister Procopio despite his great personal popularity.

And the Russians are going to collect, in cash, strategic rights, and territory.

Propose Raise For P.O. Workers

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Senate Postoffice committee announced today it would open hearings at once on a proposal to boost the pay of 350,000 postal workers. This aroused special interest in view of current attempts to relax wartime wage controls.

First eyewitness will be heard by the committee tomorrow in support of a bill by Senator Mead (D-N.Y.) to give all full time post office employees a $400 permanent annual salary increase, in place of the temporary wartime bonus of $300 voted by Congress in April of 1943. The temporary increase is to expire June 30, 1945.

The bill also would increase by 23 per cent the permanent pay scales of part time employees and those paid on an hourly or fee basis. This would be eight per cent above present Little Steel formula limits.

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—A Yugoslav broadcast declared Monday that the partisan forces of Marshal Tito had captured the son of Gen. Draa Mihailovic, whom Tito repeatedly has accused of collaborating with the Germans.

ALLIES SMASH NEW GAINS IN "GOTHIC LINE"

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, Sept. 19 (AP)—Breaking through formidable Nazi fortification and scoring what was officially termed a "great success," American Fifth Army troops yesterday captured 3,300-foot Monte Partone, Monte Altuzzo and Monte Celli in the Gothic line 20 miles northeast of Florence.

The enemy was driven from these heights after one of the fiercest days of fighting in the entire Italian campaign, official field dispatches said.

British and Indian troops under Fifth Army command contributed materially to the American success by executing flanking movements.

The Germans opposed the attack with extreme concentrations of artillery fire. In one barrage 2,000 shells were fired against the advancing Americans. The Germans also made "maximum use of mortars and small arms" headquarters said.

Nearing Bologna San Marino's frontier was crossed at the town of Faenza, where the Marano river intersects the border. A bridgehead was established there, and the British advanced one mile toward the city of San Marino itself.

The successful attack brought the Americans within 27 miles of Bologna, important communications and industrial center in the Po valley. Most of the intervening terrain, however, is rough and well fortified.

Embittered fighting without substantial changes in the situation continued near the Adriatic south of Rimini. West of San Martino, Canadians advanced to the Ausa river at a point about three airline miles southwest of Rimini in a heavy battle with enemy tanks and infantry.

Greek troops reached the northern edge of Rimini airfield, two miles from the edge of the city.

The latest Eighth Army attacks toward Rimini and the major Allied goal—a break through into the Po valley—was accompanied by one of the heaviest day and night aerial offensives ever made on enemy defenses in Italy.

TITLE—There was a rather narrow outlet for represented classes and grades of slaughter cattle and trading slowly noticeably. Several of the customary out-town buyers were absent due to the Jewish holidays. Killing quality, especially in steers and heifers, was the plainest in weeks. Minor price concessions which almost reached 25c, appeared here and there all through the list late in the day and general price structure was mostly unchanged. Outlet for stocker and feeder cattle improved and prices were steady, however the demand centered on well-bred offerings, and a few small lots of little cattle of nondescript breeding were forced into slaughter channels.

A few small lots of good grass-fed steers, $14.75 to $15.25, the latter price the day's top was paid for two packages of 1,045-1,093 lb. weights; medium to average-good steers, represented by a wide range of over 900 pounds had to sell for less than $12.50; common lightweights down to $9 and occasionally less. Good heifers were lacking, with price range of $10-12, a few at $13.50 took the bulk of the common and medium offerings. Meaty cows, principally common, $8-12, with mixed lots beef-types, $10-11; very few dairy-type offerings above $10.75; chel-lers and cutters, $5.50-7.50, although strong dairy-type offerings reached $8.75; chel-lers downward to $5 and below.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg. — Sgt. John Greta Keilholtz, Apo. 493 care of postmaster, New York city, is somewhere in India. In a letter to his parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Keilholtz, 16 West Main street, he states, "I miss the Maryland sweet corn. You recall my capacity for it. As the corn here in India is the horse variety I doubt if old 'Dobbin' could eat it if I did it. I have not had a letter from him (referring to his brother C. O. who is in England) but your letters are arriving more promptly and I am glad to hear from home. I ran into a soldier who is with Leroy Baker (son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker, 200 Frailey road), and their command is only 60 miles from me. I hope to see him soon.
My former 279 pounds are now down to 200, and maybe stationary. I hope so, but these hot countries have a way with a plump soldier." Sgt. Keilholtz mailed a wooden box containing gifts from India to his parents. Elephant book-ends, toothpick holder and picks (characteristic of India) all ivory with delicate carvings, taken from the tusks of Indian elephants.

probably more "good will" in any one city than all diplomats could carry out in years. Shortly after the Germans had left the city in which he was stationed, the disease-ridden civilians started streaming to his dispensary for treatment. Through the day long lines of men, women and children poured through the medical quarters, and all were taken care of with the same skill and devotion as the American soldiers under him.

So grateful were these people that they brought tokens of appreciation daily, which ranged anywhere from fruits, vegetables, jewelry of better days to puppies and kittens.
If the captain had accepted even a small portion of the tokens, he would have been forced to charter a special boat to carry them home.

Rich or poor, colonel or private, everyone received the same treatment, for the captain is primarily a physician. And "his boys" swear by him. When the captain is called away on other duties, "his boys" openly express the hope for his quick return.

2 Brothers in Service
When special combat missions are carried out, the captain is there on the airdrome... whether early in the morning or late at night.
Incidentally, the unit to which Capt. Knox is attached spearheaded the airborne invasion of Sicily, aided in the battle at Salerno, Italy, and also spearheaded the invasion of France.

Capt. Knox, whose wife, Rita K.
Knox, resides at 26 York street, Gettysburg, has two brothers in the service. Lt. Col. Harry Knox of the Coast Artillery, and Ensign Fred Knox of the U. S. Navy. Both brothers have seen active service overseas, and only recently Capt.

Knox met his lieutenant colonel brother in England.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. John H.
Knox, Route 3, Gettysburg, the captain was commissioned in the U. S.
Army Air corps on November 2, 1942. He attended Miami Officers' Training school, where he also took special courses in medicine. Later he was sent to Bowman Field, Ky., where he received his assignment to Troop Carrier.

While in England, Capt. Knox took special courses at the Cranfield Night Vision school, and received his diploma.

So it is with pride that this overseas unit points to one of Gettysburg's own sons as a professional man whom the War department has seen fit to award one of the highest decorations in the service.

call my capacity for it. As the corn
here in India is the horse variety I doubt if old 'Dobbin' could eat it
if I did it. I have not had a letter from him (referring to his brother C. O.

arriving more promptly and I am glad to hear from home. I ran into a soldier who is with Leroy Baker (son of

Chapter 11
When Julie finished her story the three of them sat on in front of the dying fire absorbed in the vivid scenes she had brought to life.

Susan's voice broke the silence in a whisper of awe and eagerness.
"Accidental... my father's death was accidental... you believe that?"

Julie's smile was gentle almost detached. "I believe it," she said.
"with all my heart."

"Then—" Susan drew a long breath. "I believe it too." She returned Julie's smile, her eyes suddenly misty. "You don't know what it means to me to believe that."

Julie's hand covered hers with a quick pressure. "Yes I do. And I know too that you're a wonderful girl, Susan, to be able to keep an open mind in a town so prejudiced."

Susan burst out in sudden bitterness. "Why should I let Midvale run my life? It's a narrow-minded—"

"Small town," Julie's smile was whimsical. "But it's your hometown, Susan Corboy, the town of your childhood, and it will have a hold on you no other town in the world will ever have, believe me."

She seemed about to go on but abruptly changed her mind. "It seems to be morning! What say we toast our friendship in black coffee?"

"Now you're talking my language!" Erich cried. He put one arm around Susan, one around Julie and pulled them to their feet.
"With some of your eggs Viennese thrown in on the side, Julie."

Laughingly they hurried down the dark hall and into the high-ceilinged, freshly painted huge old kitchen. In refrigerator and pantry they found ham, eggs, coffee, bread and cream. Under Julie's gray, competent directions the preparations proceeded like smooth magic. At the kitchen table spread with snowy cloth they were eating a savory breakfast when Jonathan, the old Negro servant, ambled sleepily in. He stared at them in dazed consternation.

"We apologize, Jonathan, for intruding," Julie cried. "But your breakfast is in the oven."

Later, as Susan jounced down the hill road in Jonathan's rickety old car she felt as buoyant and fresh as the morning. The weight taken from her spirit had lifted with it all sense of physical fatigue. She had never known such surging content and happiness.

Jonathan rumbled on in uninhibited congeniality about what fine folks Miss Julie and Erich was—crazy yes, but fine folks just the same. Who knew, the Lo'd A'mighty might look a little crazy to folks around here. Didn't know as you should get down on folks for just a little craziness.

"You might have something there, Jonathan," Susan laughed.
"One thing," he pulled a pair of Julie's shoes from under his feet confidentially. "Miss Julie jest can't convince them."

understand I can't polish shoes like a man like Scoop Brown. Count he specializes on jest polishin' shoes.
Reckon I'll kind of bring 'em down here on my own till she gets used to 'em hein' done so good."

Aunt Sarah was awake. She called out when Susan went by her door and Susan went in. Aunt Sarah kissed her freely. "Aunt Sarah see—in fact, she had to make the whole town see the mistake they'd made in condemning the Scarboroughs!"

At the office Thorny grinned at her briefly. Looked to him, he grunted, like a few days in the big city was just what she needed. He took her notes of the interviews, but he didn't have time to discuss them with her. He was in conference all day with the builder. At two o'clock he came out and told her to go home and get some sleep.
Susan was grateful now. Her head felt light and fuzzy. She went home and slept dreamlessly.

She was awakened by the sharp sound of her own name. "Susan!"

Shocked out of sleep, she struggled up on one elbow. Aunt Sarah, stood over her, face stonily accusing.

"Susan, there wasn't any train from Detroit this morning. And you were seen riding in the old car of the Scarborough's Negro man!" She clutched her heart and swayed.

Dr. Merrill got there in ten minutes. Susan had Aunt Sarah in bed with ice pack and hot water bottle and ammonia. Her mother gave her a sedative, called in Janie's mother to look after her, then told Susan to get her coat.

Surprised and frightened, Susan followed him out to his car. "Is it so bad?" she demanded.

"Your aunt's illness?" said Merrill as he helped her into the car. "No.
Her heart's sound as a dollar. Only thing wrong with her is a martyr complex, also a virulent hatred of men, due probably to the fact she never married."

Susan threw off the shock Aunt Sarah had given her. Her spirits zoomed again. In a rush of emotion, she told Merrill Julie's story.
He was nodding when she finished.
"Now there I'd say you had the truth," he said mildly.

"I've got to convince Aunt Sarah," Susan cried, "and Midvale. Right away!"

Merrill grinned thoughtfully. "I wouldn't be disappointed if they wouldn't convince overnight," he cautioned. "It's going to take time, patience and a miracle to shake up this town. And Susan," he added drily, "I wouldn't be seen with Erich la Favre while I was trying to convince them."

Three Ships Are Sunk By Hurricane

Washington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The 1,850-ton destroyer Warrington and two small Coast Guard patrol vessels went to the bottom at sea during last week's hurricane.

The Navy, reporting the losses, said casualties from the destroyer were "heavy." The Warrington carried a normal crew of 230 officers and men. The 125-foot Coast Guard craft, the Jackson and the Bedloe, each had a usual complement of 35 men.

The Coast Guard disclosed that survivors from the Jackson drifted for 58 hours off the Virginia coast before they were picked up. Rescue vessels took aboard officers and seamen from each of the stricken craft, including Commander Samuel Frank Charles of Nathalie, Va., skipper of the Warrington.

ROASTERS, FRYERS & BROILERS—Rocks and crows, 24-32c; Leghorns, 25-30c; 20-day-old, 25-30c.

FOWL—Colored, 28-29 1/2c; Leghorns, 18-20c, some larger higher.

CATTLE—There was a rather narrow outlet for represented classes and grades of slaughter cattle and trading slowed noticeably. Several of the customary downtown buyers were absent due to the Jewish holidays. Killing quality, especially in steers and heifers, was the plainest in weeks. Minor price concessions which seldom reached 25c, appeared here and there all through the list late in the day and general price structure was mostly unchanged. Outlet for stocker and feeder cattle improved and prices were steady, however the demand centered on well-bred offerings; and a few small lots of little cattle of nondescript breeding were forced into slaughter channels.

A few small lots of good grass-fed steers, $14.75 to $15.25, the latter price the day's top was paid for two packages of 1,040-1,093 lb. weights; medium to average-good steers, represented by a wide range of over 900 pounds had to sell for less than $12.50; common lightweights down to $9 and occasionally less. Good heifers were lacking, with price range of $10-12; a few at $13.50 took the bulk of the common and medium offerings. Meaty cows, principally common and medium, $8-12, with mixed lots, beef-types, $10-11; very few dairy-type offerings above $10.75. Canners and cutters, $5.50-7.50, although strongweight cutters reached $8; shellie canners downward to $5 and below.

probably more "good will" in any one city than all diplomats could carry out in years. Shortly after the Germans had left the city in which he was stationed, the disease-ridden civilians started streaming to his dispensary for treatment. Through the day long lines of men, women and children poured through the medical quarters, and all were taken care of with the same skill and devotion as the American soldiers under him. So grateful were these people that they brought tokens of appreciation daily, which ranged anywhere from fruits, vegetables, jewelry of better days to puppies and kittens. If the captain had accepted even a small portion of the tokens, he would have been forced to charter a special boat to carry them home.

Rich or poor, colonel or private, everyone received the same treatment, for the captain is primarily a physician. And "his boys" swear by him. When the captain is called away on other duties, "his boys" openly express the hope for his quick return.

2 Brothers in Service When special combat missions are carried out, the captain is there on the airfield... whether early in the morning or late at night. Incidentally, the unit to which Capt. Knox is attached spearheaded the airborne invasion of Sicily, aided in the battle at Salerno, Italy, and also spearheaded the invasion of France.

Capt. Knox, whose wife, Rita K. Knox, resides at 26 York street, Gettysburg, has two brothers in the service. Lt. Col. Harry Knox of the Coast Artillery, and Ensign Fred Knox of the U. S. Navy. Both brothers have seen active service overseas, and only recently Capt. Knox met his lieutenant colonel brother in England.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Knox, Route 3, Gettysburg, the captain was commissioned in the U. S. Army Air corps on November 2, 1942. He attended Miami Officers Training school, where he also took special courses in medicine. Later he was sent to Bowman Field, Ky., where he received his assignment to Troop Carrier.

While in England, Capt. Knox took special courses at the Cranfield Night Vision school, and received his diploma.

So it is with pride that this overseas unit points to one of Gettysburg's own sons as a professional man whom the War department has seen fit to award one of the highest decorations in the service.

Susan chattered lightly about Detroit, Thorne's sister, the interviews. She controlled the urge to tell Aunt Sarah Julie's story, she must wait till she had time to do it right. Laughingly they hurried down the dark hall and into the high-ceilinged, freshly painted huge old kitchen. In refrigerator and pantry they found ham, eggs, coffee, bread and cream. Under Julie's gay, competent directions the preparations proceeded like smooth magic. At the kitchen table spread with snowy cloth they were eating a savory breakfast when Jonathan, the old Negro servant, ambled sleepily in. He stared at them in dazed consternation.

"We apologize, Jonathan, for intruding," Julie cried. "But your breakfast is in the oven."

Later, as Susan jounced down the hill road in Jonathan's rickety old car she felt as buoyant and fresh as the morning. The weight taken from her spirit had lifted with it all sense of physical fatigue. She had never known such surging content and happiness.

Jonathan rumbled on in unaltered congeniality about what fine folks Miss Julie and Erich was—crazy yes, but fine folks just the same. Who knew, the Lo'd A'mighty might look a little crazy to folks around here. Didn't know as you should get down on folks for just a little craziness.

"You might have something there, Jonathan," Susan laughed.

"One thing," he pulled a pair of Julie's shoes from under his feet confidentially, "Miss Julie jest can't

Green Says 'Very Few' War Strikes

Chicago, Sept. 19 (AP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor asserted before the American Legion convention today that wartime strikes "have been very few and far between."

In an address prepared for delivery Green said "certainly there have been strikes but x x x they have not materially affected the war program. Furthermore, insofar as American Federation of Labor unions are concerned, they have been local, unofficial and of brief duration."

As victory approaches, Green said, "organized labor is becoming increasingly concerned over the necessity of developing a nation wide postwar program which will provide jobs for all and offer full economic opportunities for the millions of servicemen who will return to civilian life."

MAROONS WILL BE OUTWEIGHED BY GREYHOUNDS

Despite inclement weather for the last week, Coach Mel Dry has had his Gettysburg high school football squad working outdoors daily in preparation for the season's opener here Friday night with Shippensburg high.

Although it is much too soon to predict what success the Maroons will likely have on the gridiron it appears certain they will again have probably the lightest team in the Southern Pennsylvania interscholastic conference. The line is expected to average about 155 pounds with the backfield averaging about 145.

At present Coach Dry has a squad of 51 players working out and this number is expected to be raised this week. About half of the squad are jay-vees and will start drilling under Fred Haehelein, assistant coach, this week.

4 Lack Experience

Fred Haehelein, Jr., and Milton Moyer are waging a bitter battle for quarterback. Moyer passes, runs and kicks while Haehelein is a good blocker. Last year Haehelein played center until forced out due to an attack of appendicitis.

George Thrush, lanky end, is a doubtful starter Friday due to a sprained back. Joe Hess, who replaced Haehelein as center midway last season, has been moved into the fullback position where he shows much promise. However, he sustained a badly sprained ankle some time ago and may miss the first game. Willie Tonsil, a fine runner and blocker, may replace Hess.

Two Vet Linemen

Curvin Sanders, a veteran, and Allen McDonnell, who has seen very little service, are slated to start at tackle. The guard positions will probably be filled by Dick Epley, a veteran, and Dick Shealer, another candidate with little experience.

Leaders among the backfield reserves are Dick Wainwright and Nelson Martingly. Both are recruits from last year's jay-vee eleven.

A number who have been acting as reserves may be moved up within another week. Harry Shauer, a freshman, may be used at guard. William Sperry, who saw service last year, may also get a shot at the guard post although he has been handicapped with a cracked rib. Joe Stevenson, a sub guard and tackle a year ago, has just reported for duty. Fred Heatwole, an outstanding trackman last season, is seeking a backfield berth.

Jayvee Hopefuls

The Jayvee aggregation has a number of promising candidates including the following: Jack Cromwell, quarterback, a capable signal caller, runner and blocker; Jay Hershey, fullback, a triple-threat; Fred and Charley Rodgers, halfbacks, good runners and blockers; Dean Stultz, end, who may be moved to the varsity squad; James Sanders, tackle, another promising newcomer; Chris Angelo, end, a good receiver and fine defensive man; and Eddie Moyer, tackle, who plays a nice aggressive game.

Shippensburg will undoubtedly place a heavier team on the field. The Greyhounds openly admit they expect to have their best team in years and are confident of joining the Maroons. Next season the Greyhounds expect to rejoin the South Penn conference.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—When Jimmy Conzelmann, assistant to President Don Barnes of the Browns, was in the throes of composing that rousing football ditty, "It's In The Cards To Win," he stopped to point out "you notice I don't say we will win." . . . Now it begins to look as if Jimmy's Chicago Cardinals song could be transferred to the St. Louis bunch without changing either the title or the comment. . . . If the world series were starting today, we'd pick the Tigers in a walkover. . . . With unaccustomed frankness and brevity, Jimmy Johnston concludes a 300-word letter about "the mighty Menichelli," his new South American heavyweight, with this statement: "I don't know any more about him than I have written—so no use in going any further."

TOUCH PICKING

When the managers of the Central Pacific service baseball league picked an all-star team at the end of the season, they refused to consider Joe DiMaggio and Johnny Mize because they hadn't played enough games in Hawaii but created a utility post for Tom Ferrick because the former Cleveland finger had done some mighty hitting besides taking a regular turn on the hill. . . . The team they picked: Pitchers, Vern Olsen, Don Schmidt and Hugh Casey; catcher, Vince Smith; infielders, Ferris Fain, Joe Gordon, Bob Dillinger and Peewee Reese; outfielders, Mike McCormack, Barney McCoskey and Wait Judnich. . . . Maybe it's just as well for the big leaders that it's just an Army-Navy world series starting there Friday.

PASS INTERCEPTED

This story trickled back from the recent Packers-Boston Yanks exhibition in Buffalo. . . . The morning of the game, Frank Santora, 17-year-old Yank quarterback fresh out of Garfield, N. J., high school, was telling a stranger in the hotel lobby about his football skill. . . . Santora had just disposed of George Cafego as a Yank regular, when another stranger came along and asked: "Going to breakfast, Don?" . . . Santora stared and gulped as he began to recognize his listener then finally blurted: "Gosh, you couldn't be— you couldn't be—Don Hutson, could you?" . . . Hutson admitted his identity and all Frank could say was "gee whiz, Mr. Hutson, I sure am glad to know you." . . . He probably found that the only time folks in that league are glad to know Don is off the field.

SERVICE DEPT.

The Camp Lejeune Marines, down North Carolina way, are looking for football games. They've just named Lieut. Bill Osmanski as Coach and should be easy pickings after they open Sept. 30 against the Third Air Force Gremlins. . . . Golfers at McChord Field, Wash., are boosting Pete Thoma, who has been shooting sensational scores, as the guy to take the pro spotlight after the war. . . . Before Forrest Egan, the Sceptechase champ, was graduated from the Navy physical instructors school at Bainbridge, Md., he clipped two seconds from Bill Bonchuron's obstacle course record. . . . Obviously he'll take the boots over the hurdles.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19 (AP)—Eke Williams, No. 1 contender for the lightweight title, will find out tonight if 13 is a lucky number for him.

Williams, boasting a string of 12 consecutive wins, meets Freddie Dawson, No. 5 challenger, who had rung up 26 victories in a 107, in the feature 10-round battle at Philadelphia's indoor arena.

Lewisburg, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP)—Bucknell University's sports editor polled four doctors of philosophy on "Who will win the American league pennant?"

The result. One vote each for Detroit, St. Louis, New York and Boston.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles are wondering if their Sunday 27-7 victory over the Detroit Lions in an exhibition game was worth the loss of two star tackles.

Vic Sears, professional since his graduation four years ago from Oregon State, will be out all season with a fractured leg, and Al Wistert, from University of Michigan, won't be able to play for a month because of a shoulder injury.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19 (AP)—Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, Philadelphia jurist and vice president of the National A.A.U., has been unanimously re-elected president for the eighth consecutive year of the Middle Atlantic association, amateur athletic union.

YANKS, TIGERS OPEN CRUCIAL SERIES TODAY

By JACK HAND
(By The Associated Press)
Detroit's Tigers, the hottest club in baseball, headed into their most important series today with a half game lead, and both Hal Newhouse and Dizzy Trout primed to shoot the works against the still dangerous New York Yankees.

Of even more importance to Manager Steve O'Neill in the stretch drive is the recent form of Stubby Overmire and Rufe Gentry who promise to give his two aces a lift. Overmire has a six-game winning streak and Gentry, Rookie from Buffalo, has started to live up to his early press notices with six of his nine victories in his last nine starts.

Despite three successive beatings by the A's that dumped them out of the lead and down the ladder to third, two games behind the Tigers, the Yankees are still in the race. Joe McCarthy has his pitching planned for the Detroit series, leading off with Hank Borowy, knowing full well he has to sweep all three to stay close.

Sox Have Chance

Nels Potter, Denny Galehouse and Jack Kramer have been keeping the St. Louis Browns in the race, a half game back of the leaders, with a big chance to regain lost ground this week if they can trip the lowly Washington Senators and halt Philadelphia's revival.

Boston's hopes are not high after losing two of three to the Senators to sink four games off the pace but the Red Sox still have a chance on their hitting power, despite weak pitching, if the others start to knock off one another.

Yesterday's only big league game was a 6-5 victory for the Boston Braves over Brooklyn in 10 innings on a single by Butch Niemlan. The St. Louis Cards could clinch the National league flag today if Pittsburgh should lose to Brooklyn. They are already assured of at least a tie.

STATE ELEVEN TO DEPEND ON FROSH STARS

By TOM SHRIVER
State College, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP)—Using the Army axiom "youth must serve" as a guide, Coach Bob Higgins is building this year's Pennsylvania State college eleven around a group of teen-age freshmen.

"The youngsters have shown plenty of speed and enthusiasm," said Higgins. "If they show they have the stamina in competition we may foot a lot of folks this year."

"These freshmen were ineligible prior to the war, but now they look like our chief source of talent."

Penn State may start the season with Larry Cooney, a 16-year-old freshman in the backfield. The former Langley high star from Pittsburgh has speed to burn and darts through a hole like a scared rabbit.

Setting the pace for the pre-draft age freshmen are three ends—Bob Hicks of Lancaster, Don Mittenberger of Easton, and John Soken of Abington.

Giant Tackle

At tackle 210 pound Negler Norton, who only this spring was winning track laurels for Altoona high school, is exhibiting unusual ability for a freshman.

The same is true at guard, where Joe Drzenovitch and John Simon, both of Brownsville high school, are making Bill Larson, a Navy trainee, huddle for a regular berth.

Freshman backs are plentiful and powerful. In addition to Cooney the Lions will have Johnny Chumman, who gained all-State recognition on last year's title-winning Lansford high eleven; Elwood Petchel, pint-sized tailback from Easton; Al Belias, Chubby Kingston, fullback; Harry Muckle of North Charleroi, and Mark Maytrovich of Irwin high school.

Service Trainees
Higgins also has a few Navy and Marine trainees that any coach would be glad to welcome. They include Ed Bush, 215 pound tackle who captained the freshman team at Minnesota and last year played guard for northwestern. And Dan Orlich, a 210 pound end, who is another Northwestern transfer.

Earl Bruhn, another Minnesota boy looms as first choice for the blocking back position while other mid-westerners include Paul Swigum, 232-pound tackle from Northwestern; Johnny Schlesinger, 175-pound end from Nebraska; and Bruce Allen, another 175-pounder who played guard at Nebraska.

Penn State opens with Michlenberg on September 30, and will play a nine-game schedule.

Cincinnati, Sept. 19 (AP)—Ray Edmondson of Springfield, Ill., leader of the beaten Autonomy movement in the United Mine Workers of America, was ruled off the ballot Monday as a candidate for president John T. Lewis' job. Lewis himself made the ruling in convention and was sustained by the delegates.

MAROONS WILL BE OUTWEIGHED BY GREYHOUNDS

Despite inclement weather for the last week, Coach Mel Dry has had his Gettysburg high school football squad working outdoors daily in preparation for the season's opener here Friday night with Shippensburg high.

Although it is much too soon to predict what success the Maroons will likely have on the gridiron it appears certain they will again have probably the lightest team in the Southern Pennsylvania interscholastic conference. The line is expected to average about 155 pounds with the backfield averaging about 145.

At present Coach Dry has a squad of 51 players working out and this number is expected to be raised this week. About half of the squad are Jay-vees and will start drilling under Fred Haehnle, assistant coach, this week.

4 Lack Experience

Fred Haehnle, Jr., and Milton Moyer are waging a bitter battle for quarterback. Moyer passes, runs and kicks while Haehnle is a good blocker. Last year Haehnle played center until forced out due to an attack of appendicitis.

George Thrush, lanky end, is a doubtful starter Friday due to a sprained back. Joe Hess, who replaced Haehnle as center midway last season, has been moved into the fullback position where he shows much promise. However, he sustained a badly sprained ankle some time ago and may miss the first game. Willie Tonsil, a fine runner and blocker, may replace Hess.

Two Vet Linemen
Curvin Sanders, a veteran, and Allen McDonnell, who has seen very little service, are slated to start at tackle. The guard positions will probably be filled by Dick Epley, a veteran, and Dick Shealer, another candidate with little experience.

Leaders among the backfield reserves are Dick Whittinghill and Nelson Mattingly. Both are recruits from last year's Jay-vee eleven.

A number who have been acting as reserves may be moved up within another week. Harry Shaner, a freshman, may be used at guard. William Sperry, who saw service last year, may also get a shot at the guard post although he has been handicapped with a cracked rib. Joe Stevenson, a sub guard and tackle a year ago, has just reported for duty. Fred Heatwole, an outstanding trackman last season, is seeking a backfield berth.

Jayvee Hopesful
The jayvee aggregation has a number of promising candidates including the following: Jack Cromwell, quarterback, a capable signal caller, runner and blocker; Jay Hershey, fullback, a triple-threat; Fred and Charley Rodgers, half-backs, good runners and blockers; Dean Stultz, end, who may be moved to the varsity squad; James Sanders, tackle, another promising newcomer; Christ Angelo, end, a good receiver and fine defensive man; and Eddie Moyer, tackle, who plays a nice aggressive game.

Shippensburg will undoubtedly place a heavier team on the field. The Greyhounds openly admit they expect to have their best team in years and are confident of jolting the Maroons. Next season the Greyhounds expect to rejoin the South Penn. conference.

SPORTS ROUNDUP
By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—When Jimmy Conzelmann, assistant to President Don Barnes of the Browns, was in the throes of composing that rousing football ditty, "It's In The Cards To Win," he stopped to point out "you notice I don't say we will win." . . . Now it begins to look as if Jimmy's Chicago Cardinals song could be transferred to the St. Louis bunch without changing either the title or the comment. . . . If the world series were starting today, we'd pick the Tigers in a walkover. . . . With unaccustomed frankness and brevity, Jimmy Johnston concludes a 300-word letter about "the mighty Menichelli," his new South American heavyweight, with this statement "I don't know any more about him than I have written—so no use in going any further."

TOUCH PICKING
When the managers of the Central Pacific service baseball league picked an all-star team at the end of the season, they refused to consider Joe DiMaggio and Johnny Mize because they hadn't played enough games in Hawaii but created a utility post for Tom Ferrick because the former Cleveland flinger had done some mighty hitting besides taking a regular turn on the hill. . . . The team they picked: Pitchers, Vern Olsen, Don Schmidt and Hugh Casey; catcher, Vince Smith; infielders, Ferris Fain, Joe Gordon, Bob Dillinger and Peeewe Reese; outfielders, Mike McCormick, Barney McCoskey and Walt Judnich. . . . Maybe it's just as well for the big leaders that it's just an Army-Navy world series starting there Friday.

PASS INTERCEPTED
This story trickled back from the recent Packers-Boston Yanks exhibition in Buffalo. . . . The morning of the game, Frank Santora, 17-year-old Yank quarterback fresh out of Garfield, N. J., high school, was telling a stranger in the hotel lobby about his football skill. . . . Santora had just disposed of George Cafego as a Yank regular when another stranger came along and asked: "Going to breakfast, Don?" . . . Santora stared and gulped as he began to recognize his listener then finally blurted: "Gosh, you couldn't be—you couldn't be—Don Hutson, could you?" . . . Hutson admitted his identity and all Frank could say was "gee whiz, Mr. Hutson, I sure am glad to know you." . . . He probably found that the only time folks in that league are glad to know Don is off the field.

SERVICE DEPT.
The Camp Lejeune Marines, down North Carolina way, are looking for football games. They've just named Lieut. Bill Osmani as Coach and should be easy pickings after they open Sept. 30 against the Third Air Force Gremlins. . . . Golfers at McChord Field, Wash., are boosting Pete Thoma, who has been shooting sensational scores, as the guy to take the pro spotlight after the war. . . . Before Forrest Eflaw, the Steeplechase champ, was graduated from the Navy physical instructors school at Bainbridge, Md., he clipped two seconds from Bill Bonthron's obstacle course record. . . . Obviously he'll take the boots over the hurdles.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19 (AP)—Ike Williams, No. 1 contender for the lightweight title, will find out tonight if 13 is a lucky number for him.

Williams, boasting a string of 12 consecutive wins, meets Freddie Dawson, No. 5 challenger, who had rung up 26 victories in a row, in the feature 10-round battle at Philadelphia's indoor arena.

Lewisburg, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP)—Bucknell University's sports editor polled four doctors of philosophy on "Who will win the American league pennant?"

The result: One vote each for Detroit, St. Louis, New York and Boston.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles are wondering if their Sunday 27-7 victory over the Detroit Lions in an exhibition game was worth the loss of two star tackles.

Vic Sears, professional since his graduation four years ago from Oregon State, will be out all season with a fractured leg, and Al Wistert, from University of Michigan, won't be able to play for a month because of a shoulder injury.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19 (AP)—Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, Philadelphia jurist and vice president of the National A.A.U., has been unanimously re-elected president for the eighth consecutive year of the Middle Atlantic association, amateur athletic union.

YANKS, TIGERS OPEN CRUCIAL SERIES TODAY

By JACK HAND
(By The Associated Press)
Detroit's Tigers, the hottest club in baseball, headed into their most important series today with a half game lead, and both Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout primed to shoot the works against the still dangerous New York Yankees.

Of even more importance to Manager Steve O'Neill in the stretch drive is the recent form of Stubby Overmire and Rufe Gentry who promise to give his two aces a lift. Overmire has a six-game winning streak and Gentry, Rookie from Buffalo, has started to live up to his early press notices with six of his nine victories in his last nine starts.

Despite three successive beatings by the A's that dumped them out of the lead and down the ladder to third, two games behind the Tigers, the Yankees are still in the race. Joe McCarthy has his pitching planned for the Detroit series, leading off with Hank Borowy, knowing full well he has to sweep all three to stay close.

Sox Have Chance
Nels Potter, Denny Galehouse and Jack Kramer have been keeping the St. Louis Browns in the race, a half game back of the leaders, with a big chance to regain lost ground this week if they can trip the lowly Washington Senators and halt Philadelphia's revival.

Boston's hopes are not high after losing two of three to the Senators to sink four games off the pace but the Red Sox still have a chance on their hitting power, despite weak pitching, if the others start to knock off one another.

Yesterday's only big league game was a 6-5 victory for the Boston Braves over Brooklyn in 10 innings on a single by Butch Nieman. The St. Louis Cards could clinch the National league flag today if Pittsburgh should lose to Brooklyn. They are already assured of at least a tie.

STATE ELEVEN TO DEPEND ON FROSH STARS

By TOM SHRIVER
State College, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP)—Using the Army axiom "youth must serve" as a guide, Coach Bob Higgins is building this year's Pennsylvania State college eleven around a group of teen-age freshmen.

"The youngsters have shown plenty of speed and enthusiasm," said Higgins. "If they show they have the stamina in competition we may feel a lot of folks this year."

"These freshmen were ineligible prior to the war, but now they look like our chief source of talent."

Penn State may start the season with Larry Cooney, a 16-year-old freshman in the backfield. The former Langley high star from Pittsburgh has speed to burn and dashes through a hole like a scared rabbit.

Setting the pace for the pre-draft age freshmen are three ends—Bob Hicks of Lancaster, Don Miltenberger of Easton, and John Stoken of Alliquippa.

Giant Tackle
At tackle 210 pound Negley Norton, who only this spring was winning track laurels for Altoona high school, is exhibiting unusual ability for a freshman.

The same is true at guard, where Joe Drazonovich and John Simon, both of Brownsville high school, are making Bill Larson, a Navy trainee, hustle for a regular berth.

Freshman backs are plentiful and powerful. In addition to Cooney the Lions will have Johnny Chuckman, who gained all-State recognition on last year's title-winning Lansford high eleven; Elwood Petchel, pint-sized tailback from Easton; Al Bellas, Chubby Kingston, fullback; Harry Muckle of North Charleroi, and Mark Maystrovich of Iruan high school.

Service Trainees
Higgins also has a few Navy and Marine trainees that any coach would be glad to welcome. They include Ed Bush, 215 pound tackle who captained the freshman team at Minnesota and last year played guard for northwestern. And Dan Orlich, a 210 pound end, who is another Northwestern transfer.

Earl Bruhn, another Minnesota boy looms as first choice for the blocking back position while other mid-westerners include Paul Swiggum, 232-pound tackle from Northwestern; Johnny Schlesinger, 175-pound end from Nebraska; and Bruce Allen, another 175-pounder who played guard at Nebraska.

Penn State opens with Muhlenberg on September 30, and will play a nine-game schedule.

Cincinnati, Sept. 19 (AP)—Ray Edmundson of Springfield, Ill., leader of the beaten Autonomy movement in the United Mine Workers of America, was ruled out the ballot Monday as a candidate for president John L. Lewis' job. Lewis himself made the ruling in convention and was sustained by the delegates.

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—A fourth symphony orchestra, the Detroit, is being added to the musical organization presenting radio concerts under sponsorship. It will be carried by MBS at 8:30 p. m. Saturdays for a half-hour beginning October 21.

When the series starts each of the networks will have a sponsored symphony. First to be sponsored was the NBC Symphony on NBC. It was followed by the New York Philharmonic on CBS and then by the Boston Symphony via the Blu.

YANKS, TIGERS OPEN CRUCIAL SERIES TODAY

By JACK HAND
(By The Associated Press)
Detroit's Tigers, the hottest club in baseball, headed into their most important series today with a half game lead, and both Hal Newhouse and Dizzy Trout primed to shoot the works against the still dangerous New York Yankees.

Of even more importance to Manager Steve O'Neill in the stretch drive is the recent form of Stubby Overmire and Rufe Gentry who promise to give his two aces a lift. Overmire has a six-game winning streak and Gentry, Rookie from Buffalo, has started to live up to his early press notices with six of his nine victories in his last nine starts.

Despite three successive beatings by the A's that dumped them out of the lead and down the ladder to third, two games behind the Tigers, the Yankees are still in the race. Joe McCarthy has his pitching planned for the Detroit series, leading off with Hank Borowy, knowing full well he has to sweep all three to stay close.

Sox Have Chance
Nels Potter, Denny Galehouse and Jack Kramer have been keeping the St. Louis Browns in the race, a half game back of the leaders, with a big chance to regain lost ground this week if they can trip the lowly Washington Senators and halt Philadelphia's revival.

Boston's hopes are not high after losing two of three to the Senators to sink four games off the pace but the Red Sox still have a chance on their hitting power, despite weak pitching, if the others start to knock off one another.

Yesterday's only big league game was a 6-5 victory for the Boston Braves over Brooklyn in 10 innings on a single by Butch Nieman. The St. Louis Cards could clinch the National league flag today if Pittsburgh should lose to Brooklyn. They are already assured of at least a tie.

By TOM SHRIVER
State College, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP)—Using the Army axiom "youth must serve" as a guide, Coach Bob Higgins is building this year's Pennsylvania State college eleven around a group of teen-age freshmen.

"The youngsters have shown plenty of speed and enthusiasm," said Higgins. "If they show they have the stamina in competition we may fool a lot of folks this year."

"These freshmen were ineligible prior to the war, but now they look like our chief source of talent." Penn State may start the season with Larry Cooney, a 16-year-old freshman in the backfield. The former Langley high star from Pittsburgh has speed to burn and starts through a hole like a scared rabbit.

Setting the pace for the pre-draft age freshmen are three ends—Bob Hicks of Lancaster, Don Miltenberger of Easton, and John Stoken of Alliquippa.

Giant Tackle
At tackle 210 pound Negley Norton, who only this spring was winning track laurels for Altoona high school, is exhibiting unusual ability for a freshman.

The same is true at guard, where Joe Drzenovitch and John Simon, both of Brownsville high school, are making Bill Larson, a Navy trainee, hustle for a regular berth.

Freshman backs are plentiful and powerful. In addition to Cooney the Lions will have Johnny Chuckman, who gained all-State recognition on last year's title-winning Lansford high eleven; Elwood Petchel, pint-sized tailback from Easton; Al Bellas, Chubby Kingston, fullback; Harry Muckle of North Charleroi, and Mark Maystrovich of Irwin high school.

Service Trainees
Higgins also has a few Navy and Marine trainees that any coach would be glad to welcome. They include Ed Bush, 215 pound tackle who captained the freshman team at Minnesota and last year played guard for northwestern. And Dan Orlich, a 210 pound end, who is another Northwestern transfer.

Earl Bruhn, another Minnesota boy looms as first choice for the blocking back position while other mid-westerners include Paul Swigum, 232-pound tackle from Northwestern; Johnny Schlesiger, 175-pound end from Nebraska; and Bruce Allen, another 175-pounder who played guard at Nebraska.

Penn State opens with Muhlenberg on September 30, and will play a nine-game schedule.

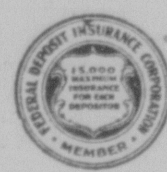

Cincinnati, Sept. 19 (AP)—Ray Edmundson of Springfield, Ill., leader of the beaten Autonomy movement in the United Mine Workers of America, was ruled off the ballot Monday as a candidate for president John L. Lewis' job. Lewis himself made the ruling in convention and was sustained by the delegates.
